GLENDALE BOOSTING FOR CELEBRATION OF TUJUNGANS

Elaborate Program Will Be Presented; Free Camping Sites Offered Public

All sorts of outdoor sports in the afternoon and band concerts, vaudeville shows and dancing at night will be provided at the Moon Festival to be held at Tujunga from September 2 to 6, inclusive, for the benefit of Monte Vista Post No. 250, American legion.

A reporter for The Glendale Evening News visited Tujunga recently and saw plenty of evidence that the people of Tujunga are making elaborate preparations for the festival.

A large dance platform has been completed on which dancing will be featured during the festival. The floor is an excellent one and, it is predicted, many happy couples will enjoy dancing to the music that will be provided.

At night, Tujunga will be as day—almost—for linemen have just completed stringing wires in many directions and hundreds and hundreds of globes will glisten.

Clearing Away Greenery

One of the attractions of Tujunga pointed to with pride by the residents, is the wealth of green shrubs banking the hillsides and even into the streets does the greenery extend. All of which is one of the reasons why the district is known as the green Verdugo hills. However, a large force of men has cleared away the shrubs from certain portions of Tujunga so that it will not interfere with the large crowds certain to attend the festival. But there is plenty of greenery left and the green Verdugo hills will remain that way.

Parking spaces are being arranged for hundreds of automobiles and every arrangement will be completed to make the stay of the visitors comfortable.

Program Is Outlined

Heads of committees in charge of entertainment for the festival met Wednesday night and made a tentative outline of the program for the five days. This outline, subject to final revision, is as follows:

Friday, September 2—Opening day and Club Women's day. 2 p. m., opening ceremonies including brief addresses, presentation of a flag by the Woman's Club to Monte Vista post and raising the flag at the club house grounds.

Reception to visiting members of women's clubs.

8 p. m.—Grand opening ball at the dance pavilion.

Saturday—Picnic day. Special attention will be given by local committees to the locating of visitors who come for week-end picnics or to camp during the entire festival. Free camping grounds with free water will be provided.

Open House By Club

The Millionaires' Club of Happiness and Contentment will keep open house. The Bank of Joy will be opened for business and drafts will be issued to all visitors who desire to join the Millionaires' club.

Saturday will be fraternal day and local Masons, Elks and others will be prepared to welcome members of the different orders.

A parade of the Tujungans will precede the free entertainment features of the evening.

Sunday—American Legion day. Reception of legion officers at Bolton hall at 2 p. m. Metaphysical meeting on the site of the Higher Thought College at 2:45. At 3:45, concert at the pavilion, under the direction of Miss Bessie Chapin, assisted by the Glendale Legion band.

The baseball managers of southern California will hold their annual convention at Tujunga on this day.

Monday—Labor day. The program for this day is incomplete but it will be devoted mainly to labor day festivities.

Tuesday—Field day. There will be a hill-climbing contest for Ford cars, and members of different gymnasiums and athletic clubs of Los Angeles and neighboring towns will stage field day contests. The final vote in the Festival queen contest will be announced, prizes will be awarded and the winner will be crowned queen of the festival. The day's program will end with a grand carnival and dance.

Free Entertainment Features

Every night during the festival there will be a community campfire and sing from 6 to 7:30. From 7:30 to 8 there will be a free entertainment including music, dancing, dramatic and other features, and the public dancing will be opened with a festival march of Tujunga children in costume. Mrs. S. H. Adams is in charge of local features of these programs, while Charles Forrester is arranging with managers of Los Angeles play houses for acts and specialties by their regular performers.

There will be a half hundred concessions arranged for and the hills

MERCHANTS' DISPLAY TO PROVIDE LOCAL PEOPLE WITH SOME IDEA OF MAGNITUDE OF BUSINESS INTERESTS

Exposition Will Open Tomorrow Night; Program Being Completed Today; Record Crowds Will Attend; Exhibits Will Prove Attractive

"IT'S YOURS. LET'S GO!" Greater Glendale Merchants' Exposition opens its gates tomorrow night at 7 o'clock. It will provide the greatest display of merchandise and motor cars ever assembled under one roof here. It will give residents of this city an idea of the magnitude of the business done. It will provide entertainment and education, pleasure and participation in the affairs of the home town.

Business men, bank directors and artisans all are to be found at the big tent on the high school athletic field with hammers, saws, paint brushes, etc., preparing this array of splendor for the opening hour. Thousands of dollars are being spent in decorations and more than $100,000 representative goods will be on display.

The show will be open tomorrow night for three and one-half hours ofi ntroductory pleasure. "Go to Church Sunday" is the program for the next day, and Monday afternoon again the great exposition opens to the public with a full week of enjoyment in store.

Plenty of Entertainment

Special mention must be made of the gold and merchandise to be given away each afternoon and twice during the evening. It is one of the most exciting parts of the program, outside of the fashion revues. Vaudeville numbers and the Exposition Versatile Five, musicians and singers, will provide entertainment equal to the show shops.

H. Elmo LaBreque, director general of the exposition which is under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, announces the following tentative program for tomorrow night:

Program Tomorrow Night

General review of the merchants' displays beginning at 7 p. m., address by Mayor Spencer Robinson, representing the city of Glendale; special entertainment features by the Exposition Versatile Five; gifts of gold; and discourse on purposes and program of exposition by H. Elmo La Breque; entertainment features; introduction of Miss Classie Marlowe, director of programs; fashion revue by mannikins wearing apparel from Hatz Specialty Shop and millinery from Gilbert's; entertainment features; gifts of gold and merchandise.

While record crowds are expected on the opening night and Monday—for everyone in Glendale will want to get the "first look" at the "latest in loveliness"—it is predicted that Wednesday will be the banner attendance day of the exposition. Verdugo Foothills residents are planning to storm the show and capture Glendale enthusiasm for the Moon Festival of the Tujungans.

Exposition Sidelights

Everybody in Glendale has become acquainted with James M. Rhoades, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. At the exposition they may meet Mrs. Rhoades in charge of the soft drink concessions along the runway.

Ray Galvin, of the Buick agency, drove the first car into the big tent this morning. Of course, it was a Buick Four. He made Sunsweet Prunes get out of the way, too, in his wild ride between the tent poles.

It would be unfair to reveal the decorations some of the exhibitors are having done by local artists—but you want to see the Glendale Nash Sales booth.

The Southern California Gas company is extending its mains free into the exposition for the use of business men who need the service for demonstration. Water mains and electric wiring make it as modern as a city.

Officer D. D. Williams has been assigned by Chief of Police Lampert to guard the displays at night. Many of the exhibits are very valuable.

When you see H. L. Miller, Roger Bentley, H. M. Butts, George T. Paine, J. A. Newton and a score of other equally prominent business men building booths, you can bet that this exposition is going to be one great, grand success.

ADA J. BARNUM IS DEAD

Miss Ada J. Barnum of Tujunga died at her home at 2 p. m. Thursday, August 25, 1921, at the age of 55 years. The body of the deceased will be shipped today by the Pulliam & Kiefer Undertaking company to White Bear, Minnesota, where burial will take place Saturday.

'Dear Katie' Informed by Strivin' Reporter She'll Hear of Show

Glendale, Aug. 26, 1921.

Dear Katie:—This mornin' I went down to the office as is usual and I got there bright and early, by which I mean the mornin' was bright and I was early.

Well, I says to the boss, what am I goin' to write about today and right away he says as how I am to go over to the show grounds and write a artikle about the Glendale Merchants' Exposition which the same is goin' to commence to begin Sat. P. M. in the evening.

Then, before I had a chance to say somethin' back at him he put on his hat and went flyin' out of the front door.

Well then I went over to the High school grounds where the big show is goin' to be, and after while I found Mr. Cavenagh and Mr. La Breque, which the same is the bosses of the whole shebang and I give them my callin' card with my name on it and I says as how I am a strivin' reporter and I made an offhand remark as how much is the tickets goin' to be if anything, like I ought to have a pass or somethin', but they didn't express no mention about the matter.

Error Made in Balloting

But anyhow Katie, I had a nice interview with Mr. Cavenagh and Mr. La Breque and we took a special vote as to whether I should be the official reporter of this here show and the vote come out 4 to nothin' in my favor on account of me makin' a error and puttin' in two votes instead of one.

So next week Katie, I will write couple or more artikles about the Exposition for this here paper and explain what it's all about.

Today, there was a lot of people poundin' and hammerin' and paintin' and decoratin' and rushin' around ever which way and the whole place on the inside of that there tent begins to look like a wonderful department store with the atmosphere of a three-ring circus.

And that should make it a attractive combination for both old and young.

Briefly yours,
E. C. HALE.

City School Trustees Seek Transportation Grand View's Pupils

Members of the board of trustees of the Glendale city schools held their regular meeting last night at the intermediate school with Mrs. A. A. Barton, Dr. P. O. Lucas and D. J. Hibben present. The chief matter of importance taken up was that of transportation for the children living in the Grand View district to the Central avenue school.

Richardson D. White, superintendent of city schools, read a letter from the Pacific Electric stating that they would sell tickets for $2.30 which would entitle the children to forty-six rides from Vine avenue to Central avenue, which would make it 10 cents a round trip. The members of the board decided that they would be willing to pay 4 cents of this amount out of school funds, the other 6 cents to be paid by the pupils, this to apply only to those under the seventh grade.

Approval Is Necessary

However, this must be approved by Mark Keppel, county superintendent of schools, before any definite action can be taken. Mr. White is in Los Angeles today interviewing Mr. Keppel in regards to this matter.

Bids were received on furniture for the two school rooms just being completed at the Central avenue school. Those accepted were the Jones Book store for childrens' seats and desks, and C. S. Weber company for teachers' desks and chair and blackboard.

Another matter discussed last night, but not acted upon, was that of exchanging the Eighth street school site which was purchased several years ago and which has not yet been improved with a school building.

SOUTHERN SECTION OF CITY STARTS ORGANIZATION

Progressive Business Men In Meeting Discuss Problems and Plans for Future

With a business boom impending from San Fernando road and Brand boulevard to San Fernando and Windsor roads, a group of forty progressive business men and property owners of that district gathered together last night in the Knights of Pythias hall at 1500 South San Fernando road at the call of George E. Schram and formulated tentative plans for an organization of property owners to promote the development, growth and improvement of that part of the city of Glendale.

In a few preliminary remarks Mr. Schram stated that such business concerns as a bank and theatre were anxious to locate in the southern part of the city if they could be assured the backing of the business houses already established there.

Favors Improvements

Harry E. White of the Cletrac agency, which is improving the corner of Brand boulevard and San Fernando road with a group of buildings for the office, display rooms and storerooms of the local branch of this large concern, stated that he believed the way to best promote the development of this district was to secure several much needed improvements, such as the extension of the five-cluster street light standards on San Fernando road from the east city limits to Windsor road; widening of Los Feliz road; the prohibiting of any further installation of gasoline curb pumps and the elimination of those already installed.

This, Mr. White stated, should be governed by ordinance, if such action has not already been started by the city council. His objections to curb pumps, he stated, were mainly that they were installed on city property, the parkways, for personal gain, and that they infringed upon the rights of taxpayers by taking up much of the parking space on the main thoroughfares of the city.

Mr. White also suggested that the electric sign "Glendale," which is now at Brand boulevard and San Fernando road be moved to the east city limits on San Fernando road. In speaking of the needed improvements in the southern part of Glendale, Mr. White voiced his objection to it being called South Glendale.

For Entire City

Any improvement advocated would reflect upon the city as a whole and should not be thought of as being for north, south, east or west Glendale, but for Greater Glendale, he said.

The district in the vicinity of Brand boulevard and San Fernando road being the logical location for

HASN'T A HAPPY ENDING

SAN DIEGO—She loved a convict. Her parents did not interfere when they began corresponding, even though he frankly admitted that he was "doing time" for burglary. When he was released, he came to Escondido and she became Mrs. Ethel Monk, wife of William C. Monk, the ex-convict. Then did her sweet, womanly ways win him from his life of crime, did her sympathetic, understanding nature head him to the honest path? They did not. Now they have both been arrested charged with burglary.

Radio Controlled Auto Now Being Developed by Army Air Service

By JAMES T. KOLBERT
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Next on the program of Twentieth Century progress is the radio controlled automobile.

The air service engineers at McCook Field, Dayton, Ohio, have in their possession an invention which makes it possible for them to drive a three-wheeled automobile from the office. They can make the machine dart about the field, make it stop suddenly with a screeching of brakes; cause it to turn to the right or left and make it do everything that the driver at the wheel may call for.

This automobile is about eight feet long, runs on three pneumatic tired wheels and has a speed ranging from four to ten miles an hour. It has no serial or antenna system visible.

The "selector" does the work.

The "selector" is the heart of the mass of machinery under the hood and receives the impulses wirelessed by the men at the radio controls.

The "selector" operates twelve controls and can put one into action within less than a second after the push-button at the transmitter in the radio station is pressed.

The car can be controlled from the ground and from airplane, the test showed. Aside from the value of the radio controlled car in times of peace, the contrivance will be invaluable in time of war, it was pointed out.

Great tanks, filled with high explosive could be launched against the enemy without endangering members of the attacking force. Ships laden with TNT could be directed against battleships. Even airplanes could be loaded with explosives and dropped at a given point within the enemy lines.

The engineers are hard at work with the expectation of improving the apparatus to the point where its operation will be simple and practicable.

LOCKWOOD HOME IS SOLD

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Lockwood have sold their home at 321 West Lomita avenue to Mr. and Mrs. W. Ward. Mr. Ward is principal of the Rosemont school of Hollywood. Mr. and Mrs. Lockwood will leave tomorrow, by automobile, on a camping trip to a week or ten days. They have not chosen any destination, but will just motor and camp where fancy dictates.

HOTEL HEADS READY TO LEAD RAIDS ON TOURISTS

Unreasonable Extortion On Part Of Inn Keepers Is Charged By Writer

By CLYDE A. BEALS
Written for The United Press

LONDON.—The open season for traveling in Europe is on and the average Americans who come over will be shot as full of holes as a decoy duck. Every hotel keeper is bent on squeezing the lemon dry for himself and, on receiving a complaint against the most unreasonable extortion, smiles obsequiously and murmurs the new European slogan, "But YOU have dollars."

The only real good the exchange does Americans, as a matter of fact, is to make them feel richer. In central Europe, Germany and Italy the prices are still relatively low. In Belgium the level of food prices begins to approach the American, and in France and, strangely enough, Holland, one pays dollar for dollar and sometimes a little more. In all these countries one may find relatively cheap hotels and restaurants, but they are both well off the beaten tourist tracks, and dirty. The line between the good and bad places is rather sharp.

No Food Shortage

No American need fear the food shortage, even in Austria. There it is still practically impossible to get white bread, though this in the surrounding countries is readily available.

It is discouraging to try to travel for pleasure, however, in any of the countries except those along the Atlantic and North Sea. The train services, owing to the coal shortage, have been so curtailed that the cars are hopelessly overcrowded.

The hotels are continually filled. One must reserve rooms from one to ten days ahead. And, the complete traveler must be equipped with a full assortment of bug and itch ointments. The bugs have become so brazen that they don't wait to begin operations even until the lights are out.

Double Tipping System

In Italy, also, the hotels as well as restaurants have evolved what amounts to a double tipping system. Placards announce that no tips will be accepted, and that instead a service charge of from 10 to 15 per cent will be made. But, to get out without tipping takes an accomplished burglar. One proprietor, when asked if the service was paid for, replied, "Well, yes, but——."

A cover charge is also in the list of refined extortions. In one tiny restaurant in Venice the cover I had certainly made more than enough to buy a clean one. The service was rendered by the proprietor's small son. Both charges were nevertheless among those present.

There is, however, one new convenience. Almost every man who went home from England or America to fight has now become a waiter or a porter, so that knowledge of an extra language, except for arguing with the taxicab drivers, is almost superfluous.

Courteous Treatment

Though Holland is to Monaco as a washtub is to a fingerbowl, it is for a visit the most pleasant country of all. One is sure of courteous treatment and the inhabitants radiate contentment. It is not necessary as it is in Italy, and, to a less degree, in France, to tip everyone for the most elementary courtesy. The place is extraordinarily clean and the food extraordinarily good. It is a

SONS OF REST PROTEST

MERCED—Unless the Southern Pacific company does something about its depot benches, the town is going to lose a lot of tourists. This is the threat of J. Korensky, secretary of the self-styled Sons of Rest, who frequent the Merced benches. Secretary Korensky, who denies he is related to the deposed Russian premier, declares that in all experience with benches he has never seen them rougher than in Merced. In a communication to the railroad the secretary called attention to the "dangerous and dilapidated condition of the benches in the station park," and darkly threatened that unless the situation should improve the Sons of Rest would move away their headquarters.

Two men employed in the construction of a water tube in Erie, Pennsylvania, were recently swept nearly a mile through the concrete tube when a temporary dam let go during a terrific rainstorm. They were carried to the lake and thrown upon the sand where they were recovered. Nearly an inch and a half of rain fell.

SEES GREAT DEVELOPMENT

SEASIDE, Ore.—From a narrow Indian Trail to "Main street," This is the evolution that Mrs. Mary Stanley, pioneer, has watched in the process since she came to this region more than fifty years ago. There were no habitations, and the only thoroughfare was an Indian trail leading down to the coast when her family took up residence near it. Her father built the first bridge across the river, and later helped to make a road from the trail on which the town began to grow.

Now it is Main street, or rather Broadway, and Mrs. Stanley, aged seventy, can look out from her front window and see the plate-glass windows of the shops, and the Fords parked along the curbing of the modern town. Mrs. Stanley is the only resident of Seaside who once saw Indians file down Broadway in their war paint.

Wallace H. Fleer Is Now New Owner of Dave Carney's Store

Carney's is sold! Rumors to this effect had been in circulation for a week, but only this morning did the pioneer merchant announce that he was stepping out of his clothing store at 112 East Broadway. His successor is Wallace H. Fleer, who for thirteen years has been in the clothing business in southern California.

"I have always had an eye on Glendale," he said, "and in obtaining this excellent location from Dave Carney, I feel justified in making a heavy investment here."

His first official act is to sell out the stock of bathing suits with summer drawing near a close.

Mr. and Mrs. Carney are undecided as to what they will do in the immediate future. Through diligent effort they have built a big trade and made money which, in turn, has been invested in Glendale property.

It's Easy to Find Historic Places In Tales About Pioneers

STOCKTON—Poker Flat, Angels' Camp, and the bar where the jumping frog performed. How much of it is fiction, and how much fact?

You can see for yourself if you will motor through the Mark Twain and Bret Harte country, though it's too late now to hear first-hand many of the fascinating stories of these writers and their times, for many of the most interesting pioneers have passed on, their memories gone with them.

Bret Harte is far less popular in the mountain country today than Clemens. Harte, they declare, exaggerated the pioneer life, shaped it to please the popular fancy, to the detriment of pioneer people. They seem to think him more intimately acquainted with eastern society life than with California and Nevada of the early days.

Mark Twain is universally beloved, through the Stanislaus, Calveras county, Carson City, Nevada City and the mining country. And the memories in some parts are being commercialized to attract tourists..

Near Tuttletown and Jackass Hill resides William R. Gillis, 81 years old, and last of the Gillis brothers who were the warm personal friends of Samuel Clemens. His brother, Jim Gillis appears in many of the early writings, and in "Roughing It" as well.

Mr. Gillis is a mine, a veritable bonanza, of information about Mark Twain and the mining times. He can locate most of the narratives on the map for you, and give you the correst history of nearly all the tales. He discredits the claims of San Andreas that the Metropolitan bar is where the jumping frog tale originated, and is inclined to believe the setting is an old hotel at Angels' Camp. Poker Flat, Poverty Flat and many of the locations of the Bret Harte stories Gillis thinks were fancy.

But you can find what purports to be almost any scene in the early fiction. The fun is deciding for yourself.

DISTILLATE FUMES GAS HIM

PENDLETON, Ore. — Distillate fumes inhaled by C. H. Wheeler, ranch hand, produced the same effect as the German poison gas on the soldiers in the world war, physicians who examined the man declare. Wheeler, who was syphoning distillate from a large tank, started the flow by sucking on the pipe. Within a few moments he was taken violently ill, exhibiting all the symptoms of the "gas" victims.

SUSPECT IN MURDER CASE ENDS LIFE, OFFICERS SAY

Rover Thodes Is Found Dead In Barn; Inquiry Is Now Being Conducted

PITTSFIELD—Deputy Sheriff E. H. Pierce has been ordered to investigate the case of Rover Rhodes of South Williamstown, reported here to have committed suicide by hanging in a barn on the farm of Burt Rhodes of Williamstown, and an autopsy is possible to ascertain whether Rover Rhodes is really guilty of the alleged crime of murder on the farm of Mrs. August P. Belmont of New York and New Ashford.

It has been reported to the Berkshire county commissioners that Rover Rhodes committed suicide by hanging after being found guilty of murder in a trial before the county commissioners a month ago. Rover was sentenced to be confined for the rest of his natural life, and Burt Rhodes, his nearest of kin, was ordered to furnish bond against other crimes by Rover Rhodes. No bond was forthcoming and Sheriff Pierce was dispatched to investigate the case.

Testimony in the trial here a month ago was to the effect that Rover was fired at and hit at long range by the superintendent of Mrs. Belmont's farm when caught in the act of murder. It was suggested that if Rover were to be captured and an examination made, shot would be found embedded in his skin.

Sheriff Pierce was ordered to execute Rover Rhodes under one of the oldest laws on the statute books, but a still more ancient law was unearthed by Mr. Rhodes providing that he have custody of Rover Rhodes if he furnished bond "within a reasonable time," and there the matter stood until this month's meeting of the county board, when it was found no bond had been given. The county board personally investigated the matter and were startled by the report that suicide had been committed by the accused one. To clear up the whole matter the sheriff was ordered again on the trail.

Mystery Partly Solved

Rover is a dog. He was found guilty of killing sheep. Burt Rhodes is his master. Sheriff Pierce is the county dog officer. The dog actually did hang himself, it is claimed, by leaping over a partition and hanging by the rope with which he was tied. Mr. Rhodes declares the dog had once leaped the partition before and was cut down half dead. Thereafter the dog went around the partition. His suicidal intent, he declares, was plainly shown by his deliberate leaping of the partition again when the county commissioners came near the barn in their further investigation.

Man Loses Native Land During War

NORTH TONAWANDA, N. Y.—John Grunzweig was literally "a man without a country," here today.

Grunzweig was deported from the United States to Roumania in May, 1920, because it was claimed he was an anarchist.

Upon his arrival in Roumania, Grunzweig was refused admission into that country by the Roumanian consul who claimed the deportee was not a resident of that country.

The consul won his point, as the territory from whence Grunzweig came was not the possession of Roumania at the time he first came to the United States.

The American consul then refused Grunzweig permission to return to this country and the Greek consul refused him the right to enter Greece.

Grunzweig was returned to the boat on which he was deported and allowed to remain as a passenger as far as Gibraltar. From Gibraltar he was forced to work his way across the Atlantic and when an American port was reached he escaped from the vessel.

The "man without a country" arrived in this city about a year ago, and was arrested recently when it was learned he entered the United States illegally.

The question of finding a country for Grunzweig will be up to Judge Hazel when the case is tried at the Canandaigua term of court this fall.

ALLEGED BANK SWINDLERS

LONG BEACH, Aug. 26.—A chase for a pair of alleged bank swindlers which has led police and detectives employed by a nationally-known agency into nearly every state in the union came to a climax here when Detective J. B. Worley arrested Ralph B. Capron, 28, said to be a former member of the Pittsburg and Philadelphia baseball teams and B. Vedeler, 24. The two men were taken into custody on warrants charging fraud sworn to by A. S. Harrison of South Bend, Wash., and a banker at Bathkeep, N. D.

Operations of the pair, according to the police, extended throughout the United States, with banks in small towns as their victims. Police in North Dakota, Washington, Kansas, Wisconsin, Mississippi, Texas, and many other states hold warrants for their arrest, according to information in the hands of the police here. Banks in many small towns were victimized to the extent of more than $20,000, police said. Vedeler, who claims to be a brother-in-law of Dr. Edwin Erickson of Tacoma, Wash., said the study of "petroleum technique" brought him to Long Beach.

"CREPUSCULAR" SUN RAYS

The beams of light sometimes seen radiating from the sun when not far from the horizon are called "crepuscular rays." They are due to rays of light passing through breaks in the clouds and made visible by dust or fine drops of water in the air. Their apparent divergence is an effect of perspective. The phenomenon is popularly described as "the sun drawing water"; sailors speak of the "sun's backstays," while Homer wrote of the "rosy-fingered dawn."

SOCIETY GIRL WEDS GROOM

CHICAGO, Aug. 26. — Another of the daughters of the wealthy J. Beaver Webb, life-long friend of J. Pierpont Morgan, has proved that she is a true child of democracy. News leaked out today that Edith Beaver Webb, New York society girl, married George Miles, a groom in the Lake Forest stables of Benjamin Behrs. June 14. Webb received his first shock a little over a year ago, when his eldest daughter, Louise, took a Central Park traffic cop, Tom Leonard, home and introduced herself as Mrs. Leonard. Mrs. Miles today was wiping dishes and wearing a bungalow apron. "You must have some beautiful theories of marriage?" she was asked. "Yes," she smiled, "and I'll keep them." She said her husband was out in the barn shooting rats and she didn't want him bothered. He wasn't.

NEW VERSION

Charity may cover a multitude of sins, but curiosity uncovers a lot more.

KILLED WHILE IN SLEEP

HULL, England, Aug. 26. — Request that the United States battleship Utah come here to take home the bodies of the sixteen American officers and men who lost their lives when the ZR-2 fell into the Humber river, was made by American naval officers who are conducting an official probe into the disaster—the greatest in the history of the air. It was learned this afternoon that many of the forty-three men aboard who were blown to pieces by the explosion or burned to death were asleep in their bunks when the accident occurred.

The official inquiry has established the fact that Commander Wann steered his ship away from the city of Hull and over the river when he first felt the cracking of the girders to avert a disaster which would have been even more terrible. The Utah is equipped with coffins, American officers said, but if she is unable to come here in time to carry home the bodies they asked that destroyers be sent from the Black Sea.

How to Tell When Olives Are Poison

PHILADELPHIA—When opening a bottle of olives, if they give off a rancid, offensive odor, they should be thrown away, because they are poison, according to Dr. Randall C. Rosenberger, professor of hygiene and bacteriology at Jefferson college.

Dr. Rosenberger has been carrying on experiments to find out how to detect poisonous olives. Good olives have a pleasantly aromatic odor, he said. The poisonous olives smell a little stronger than roquefort cheese, and the liquor is clouded.

The poison is known as bacillus botulinus. It is found more frequently in ripe olives than in green ones, probably because the ripe variety are really over-ripe and possibly in an early state of decay, Rosenberger said.

Dr. Rosenberger carried on extensive experiments with guinea pigs, white mice and rabbits.

Building in Glendale

Whether business is exceptionally good or whether it is uncertain—the people of Glendale go ahead with their building.

And why shouldn't they?

In the days of '49 when everyone had the "gold-fever," small cities would spring up over night wherever a "gold-strike" had been reported, but the structures were far from being permanent. The prospectors were well aware of the fact that should the gold "peter out," they would be on the move the next day for new fields.

Glendale Has Built on Lines of Permanence.

When people enter Glendale for the first time they are impressed with the permanent qualities, as well as the indication of growth and expansion. Every good citizen is anxious to aid Glendale in its progress, for it is a progress which is based on a firm foundation. In this you can help by building now.

CASH BALANCE ON HAND

MARYSVILLE—While the national government wallows in indebtedness, while experts are evolving intricate systems of funding foreign loans, and while poverty struts in the very portals of the mint, the city of Marysville, from the vast phalanx of impoverished communities, stands out with a cash balance on hand of $2,984.26. The records of City Clerk E. B. Stanwood, the Charles G. Dawes of municipal finance, attest to the fact. Not only has Marysville this handsome margin against future expenditures, but it has successfully canceled the $47,095.03 indebtedness, and for the first time in years faces the world with a clean credit book. The report has been duly examined and approved by the council.

THEIR BLOOD NOT SHED

CHICO—"None of the members of the party suffered from nosebleed." This is the encouraging report of J. Irving Bedford, local jeweler, who has returned from a successful climb up Mount Shasta, an elevation of 14,480 feet above sea level, made by a party of Chico residents. Mrs. Dorothy Brown of this city was a member of the party, and made the difficult ascent more easily than the hardy male companions.

Ice cream in especially constructed containers holding five hundred gallons is being shipped to China from Vancouver, British Columbia. The Chinese are showing great partiality to ice cream but the Japanese do not regard it favorably.

ONE WAY TO COUNT THEM

SAN FRANCISCO — Regular census takers call on the heads of a family, and ask them how many children they have. The census takers for the California Fish and Game commission work in a different manner, however, in enumerating the number of sea lions. The census takers each year go to the Farrallone Islands off San Francisco, and to Anno Nuevo Island off Monterey. When they approach the adult sea lions flop into the water and disappear. The census takers then count the sea lion pups, which remain on the islands, and thereby gain a very good idea of how many adult sea lions there are on the islands each year.

QUERIES, ANSWERS IN REFERENCE TO SO. CALIFORNIA

Mrs. A. C. Schrader In Receipt of Interesting Clipping From Illinois Paper

Mrs. A. C. Schrader, 1224 Dorothy drive, Glendale, has received a clipping from The Cullom Chronicle, Cullom, Ill., which contains some rather interesting information under the head "California Questions and Answers." The article follows:

H. G. Steinman, former Cullom banker, but now a resident of Los Angeles, when asked about his adopted home, handed us the following clipping and says he will vouch for part of it at least:

Question—Where is the state of California located?

Answer—On the front side of the American continent, between the rest of the United States and the Pacific ocean, and near the Panama canal.

Q.—Why is Southern California famous?

A.—It contains Los Angeles.

Q.—What is Los Angeles?

A.—The climatic capital of the United States.

Q.—To what has it been likened?

Ain't It the Truth?

A.—To paradise, heaven and Eden, and the Reviera.

Q.—Which does it most resemble?

A.—It is a happy combination of all of them.

Q.—What is the population of Los Angeles?

A.—500,000 boosters.

Q.—What is a booster?

A.—One who knows a good thing and wants others to come and share it.

Q.—Of whom does the population consist?

A.—Mostly people from Iowa, together with former residents of other states and a sprinkling of native sons.

Q.—Into what two classes may the people of the United States be divided?

A.—Those who have already seen Southern California and those who intend to see it soon.

Called Other Things, Too

Q.—What are Eastern visitors called while in Los Angeles?

A.—Tourists.

Q.—What is a tourist?

A.—A permanent resident in the bud.

Q.—Does Los Angeles believe in hiding its light under a bushel?

A.—It does not. In addition to showing the light it sets fire to the bushel and makes a conflagration that attracts the attention of the whole world.

Some Eastern Boosters

Q.—Has Los Angeles any agents working for it in the east?

A.—Yes. Mr. Cyclone, Mr. Blizzard, Mr. Thunderstorm and two Wave brothers, Messrs. Cold and Hot.

Q.—Are they successful?

Q.—When is the best time to come to Los Angeles?

A.—At once. "Everybody's doing it."

Q.—What is the only way to leave Los Angeles?

A.—With a return ticket.

Don't Be Caught Without a Home in Which to Live—

Reports from all Southern California show a serious house shortage, even at this time of year. Of all desirable cities in which to live—Glendale is foremost. By October the demand for houses in this beautiful "City of Homes" will be far more acute than now. The large number of recent building permits reflects the determination of many to own homes of their own.

Now while lumber is available at such reasonable prices is the time to build.

In addition to simply selling you lumber we offer you an extraordinary service. We will co-operate with you in helping plan your home—and show you the photographs of hundreds of conveniently constructed houses from which to choose.

It makes no difference what your requirements are—you may be reasonably sure of securing the plan you will want to adopt for your new home.

DENVER—Four men, with only four legs between them were fined $10 and costs for drunkenness. Each of the four, all pencil peddlers, had only one leg and were drunk together.

ALL IN THE POINT OF VIEW

In the olden days there lived in the vicinity of Shelby a sheep herder named Bill. Bill, like most members of his profession, was wont to work faithfully for the greater part of the year and then blow into town and waste his substance in a short period of riotous living. Returning from one of these trips broke, his employer asked him:

"Bill, you left here with $400. What became of it?"

Bill studied a minute and replied:

"Wall, I reckon I lost about a hundred an' fifty in a stud game. I must a left 'bout a hundred at the Fashion dance hall, an' I reckon I spent close to a hundred for booze."

"What did you do with the other fifty?" persisted his boss.

"Can't remember exactly," replied Bill after due reflection. "I guess I must of just natcherally fooled that away."

EUROPE PLANS FOR COMBINATIONS TO GAIN STRENGTH

New Alliances Being Made by Various Countries; Testing Ex-Enemies

PARIS—Europe is in a state of complete flux from the international political point of view.

Realizing that at least until the league of nations amounts to something each nation will be obliged to have effective material means of looking after its own safety and interests, all the governments of Europe are feeling each other out, each hoping to effect some combination which would safeguard it from any possible attack.

Even the former allies are edging around each other, to see just how much the other can be depended upon for real help in the future.

This accounts for the numerous little international crises which have been figuring so prominently in European news dispatches the last year, each seemingly full of possibilities at the moment yet generally passing without lasting results.

Testing Former Enemies

It explains the constant re-shifting of "blocs" in allied council chambers, first England supporting Italy against France, then Italy and France against England, and so forth, which is so bewildering to the American reader.

Simultaneously, the various allies are also testing out their former enemies to ascertain which offers the best timber for future friends.

France, for instance, is apparently succeeding in lining up Turkey, that is, the Turkish nationalists, the real power in the near east, where both she and England are so vitally interested. England, on the contrary, is also flirting with the Arabs, another considerable force in Asia Minor.

Among the allies, France and Belgium have already pledged common cause. When the Quai D'Orsay makes a move, Brussels invariably follows suit.

The pairing off of England and Italy is less consistent, but the two have held together on a great many questions since the peace treaty. Italy, however, occasionally sides with France against Great Britain.

Poland has already become a protege of France, who is using her as a useful prod in the back of Germany. France counts upon Warsaw for support in case of altercation with Germany. England, on the contrary, seems to incline more toward Germany and against the Poles.

Russia remains the great isolated question mark on the European diplomatic horizon. England appears to be doing her best to effect a reproachment, with varying success. Russia holds the balance of power in Europe and, until she casts her weight to one group or another, no permanent adjustment will be possible.

SOFTEST KNOWN WOOD

Trees belonging to the genus Jacaratia, growing in tropical America, are remarkable for their soft wood. After part of the bark is cut away a machete can be shoved to the center of the trunk with ease. The wood when fresh, can be cut into blocks with a knife, as one would cut up parsnips or turnips. As the wood dries, it shrinks into a small fraction of its original bulk.

GLENDALE MAN HAS EXPERIENCE WITH TRAIN ROBBER

Maurice B. Hartmann, Enroute to St. Paul, Is Witness to Thief's Invasion

Maurice B. Hartmann, who spends a great deal of his time in Glendale, returned recently to his home in St. Paul, Minn., and from there wrote to Mrs. Ella Richardson, 317 North Brand, this city, concerning his journey. His letter follows:

St. Paul Minn., Aug. 17

My Dear Mrs. Richardson: I take the liberty to send you these pages to tell of my journey from dear old Glendale to my destination as above. I hope this will not be considered in-fra-dig on my part.

Our trip from Los Angeles was uneventful. Arriving at Oakland I inquired the way to the Western Pacific depot and was directed to the San Francisco ferry. I was ferried to San Francisco and then back on another boat to the Oakland Western Pacific mole. There is nothing startling until the Feather river is reached. The scenery is grand and there is no abatement of interest until the Salt Lake desert is reached at Windover.

Trip Across Desert

The trip across the desert is of some four hours' duration. The white glare is rather trying on the eyes, but in spite of this one enjoys the interesting processes of harvesting the salt and refining it. Leaving the desert we had a good view of the Great Salt Lake, with its pleasure resort at the southern end. To the south, as far as eye can see, stretches a great range of mountains. To the north and east are a number of mining plants, smelters, reduction buildings, all on a large scale. We stayed only a short time in Salt Lake City, while the train was being made up and switched on to the Denver & Rio Grande tracks. The total number of miles from Oakland to Salt Lake City was 928. The elevation at Salt Lake City is 4224 feet. The highest point on that line was at Jasper, 5876 feet.

The scenery on the Denver & Rio Grande is indeed magnificent. The highest point we reached Tuesday, August 2, was at Soldiers' Summit, 7440 feet. I retired about 10 p. m. and lying awake watched the stars. The Milky Way was more distinct than I had ever before seen it and the dome of the heavens was blazing with more and brighter stars than ever I had seen before. There were many falling stars, which, however, left no appreciable void in the brilliant constellations.

Hist! Here's Mystery!

While thus enjoying the music of the spheres I was startled to see a rope ladder lowered over my window, and then a man's form descending and peering into my berth. I pushed aside the hammock from the window in order to get a better view of my midnight visitant. When the man on the ladder saw I was still awake he ran up and drew the ladder after him. I rose at once and calling the porter told him what I had seen. He said nobody could get in and that probably it was the man filling the tanks with ice. I returned to bed, but feeling unsatisfied I rose and spoke to the porter again. He told me to see the conductor and pointed him out to me. I repeated my story to the conductor and that I was convinced that something was amiss. He said he would investigate.

However, I fell asleep and did not wake until 6 a. m. When the porter noticed I was stirring he popped his head in between the curtains and said, "You sho was right last night. It was some thief." He cut the wire screen in three places and robbed the occupants. One lost $100 in travelers' checks and $8 in currency. One lady lost a powder box. I did not get what the third one lost. While I was dressing the conductor came to me and took both my addresses, Glendale and St. Paul. During the day I was sort of hero. I noticed several times that I was being pointed out. The porter told one of my fellow passengers that had they believed me and acted promptly they would have caught the thief. Thus you will observe that sometimes a man may become a hero overnight.

We have had delightful weather. I had to shed some clothes during the hot part of the day and need very little covering at night. Today, Tuesday, August 2, we had some beautiful scenery. There are many health resorts, mineral springs and of course mining going on in many places. Sometimes one sees fresh holes made in the ground, prospecting for a "lucky strike"; others abandoned with the "hope" buried in them. There are occasional rows of charcoal ovens falling to pieces. Formerly charcoal was the fuel used for smelting the ores. Now electricity does the work.

It's Wonderful Sight

At Tennessee Pass we reached the highest altitude, 10,240 feet. Here the waters coming down from the snow-capped mountains divide, part going west and forming the turbulant Colorado river; part going east and forming the Tennessee river. That surely is a wonderful sight, with a thousand snow-covered peaks on every hand.

While passing the Malta we could see Leadville, the famous mining town, a few miles distant. The flowers along the way were beautiful. There were so many varieties I had never seen before. The cloud shadow effects are most wonderful and sometimes startling.

We were held up since 2 o'clock at a small station called Texas Creek, altitude 6210 feet, 181 miles west of Denver. There are three trains besides ours detained on account of the washout fourteen miles east of here. Because of the rarity of the atmosphere the stars look gloriously brilliant, 9 p. m. We were led to believe the delay would be a matter of but three or four hours. Instead we stood about until 11 p. m. enjoying the view of Texas Creek. The said view consisted of four houses, one a two-story building, four bantams, a brood of little "bants" and one baby pig. A dance was staged in one house, the jazz being ground out by a phonograph. When this amusement palled, at 11, we retired to our berths, hoping for the speedy repair of damage to the roadbed.

I awoke at 5 a. m., August 4, feeling the train in motion, and felt rejoiced. But on looking out of the window I noticed we were going uphill because the waters of the Arkansas river were tumbling in the other direction. At 6 o'clock the train stopped and the place looked familiar. I recognized Salida, where the day before I had bought cigarettes and fruit. We had retraced our steps thirty-one miles. During the morning another train from Salt Lake City joined us, making five trains, all waiting, like Mr. Micawber, for something to turn up. Every one has been on the qui vive to be summoned to his accustomed place so as not to delay the starting forward. I just sent a telegram to Argy not to expect me at the time first set. The last word is that we pull out again at 12:45. That is as good a guess as any, so we will wait and see.

Marks Of Flood

Friday, August 5, we entered the Royal Gorge at 6:30. The usual sight-seeing car was not put on, so we had to make the best of the view from the windows. I had been that way twice before, so I was not so disappointed as a great many others were. I noticed the condition of the roadbed and judged it must have been a herculean task to clear the way. I was not surprised that it took the railroad company two days to accomplish the job; especially when it is considered how narrow the gorge is and that only a limited number of men can work in a given stretch. The flood at Pueblo, a short distance east of the gorge, must have been something awful. Marks on the station gates showed this wall of water to have been six feet high. East of the station, commercial buildings had been destroyed, carried away or overturned, and trees uprooted. An iron bridge spanning the river was lying prostrate in the water. At Colorado Springs and Cripple Creek I recalled my former visits. One could not help seeing Pike's Peak, the Garden of the Gods, Cave of the Winds, etc.

At Denver I was sought out by the claim agent of the D. & R. G. to whom I had to repeat the story of the train robbery. He took my address and thanked me warmly in the name of the company.

I arrived at Omaha just in time to catch the day train on the C. G. W. railroad for St. Paul. I arrived Saturday, August 6, at 8:20 p. m. I was welcomed by my daughter, her husband and children and some of my friends. Thus ended this rather eventful journey. It seems to be my fate to be on the trains where robbers get in their shine. Going to California last November, three people in my car were robbed, one to the tune of $300 while the train was held for an hour at Des Moines, Iowa. With kindest regards, as ever,

Faithfully yours,
Maurice B. Hartmann.

Charles Ray as an amateur pugilist in Charles E. Van Loan's "Scrap Iron" is giving big satisfaction to crowds attending the Palace Grand theatre, where this First National attraction is being shown this week. Ray fans have found it one of the most delightful entertainments which their favorite star has ever offered them.

While the picture abounds with comedy, it has a strong strain of pathos, which makes it different from any story in which Ray has appeared hitherto. Love of a mother by her only son is the motif of the story, and John Steel, the role portrayed by Ray, is an entirely human character.

The thrills of "Miracles of the Jungle" in its first episode proved highly satisfying and every one of the youngsters and older people as well who saw it yesterday, acclaim it the greatest animal picture ever seen. It cost a million dollars to produce. "When the Whale Was Jonahed" is a breezy pictograph and the Paramount magazine covers a host of interesting subjects. The big bill holds over until Saturday night.

The children's story hour at the public library, which is held every Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the young folks' department, increases in popularity as the summer progresses.

NINE YEARS IN HOSPITAL

SAN FRANCISCO—Color to the contention of Mrs. Lydia Southard, alleged female bluebeard, that she is a typhoid carrier, is lent by the official case of Harry Olsen, orderly at the United States marine hospital. Olsen has been confined for more than nine years in the hospital, because physicians believe that while physically healthy himself, he still retains "typhoid germs" which will contaminate others. He is listed officially as a disease carrier, and is said to have unwittingly caused the deaths of four persons who acquired the disease from him.

INDIAN BECOMES FARMER

ELY, Nev.—Lo, the poor Indian, has given up his painted wigwam, and is now residing in a three to five-room bungalow. He has cast aside his bow and tomahawk and turned to agriculture for a living. This, according to Rev. J. W. Scott, superintendent of the Baptist mission, who has just completed a survey of conditions among the Indians of the state, is the improved situation of the aboriginal savage. At most places, he reports, the Indians have become successful farmers, own their own land in many cases, or hold good jobs on ranches.

Cattle Industry In Argentine Is Claimed to Be at Standstill

By PHILIP AQUILA KEMPSTER
United Press Staff Correspondent

BUENOS AIRES—The cattle industry in Argentina, the most important and largest industry of the country, has practically reached a standstill.

This was caused, to a large extent, by the exchange situation, but has been greatly accelerated by the strike in England of the British coal miners. This latter has caused a scarcity of ships to carry the beef, and there is great irregularity in the sailings of the ones which do come to Argentina from England.

The greater part of the beef exported from Argentina goes to England. Practically none is sent to the United States. Even the large American frigorificos, Armour's and Swift's, send almost all their meat to England and Europe, France receiving a considerable portion. Also a small amount of live cattle has recently been shipped to Germany. However, with conditions in England as they are at present, the meat houses are refraining from ordering Argentine beef, with the result that the packing houses here are marking time, hoping for an improvement of the situation.

Fine For Cattle Raising

In hogs and sheep, movement of the industry is slow, but not to the extent of the business in cattle. A considerable quantity of hogs and sheep are being sent to the United States and Europe, as well as some hides.

Argentina is the ideal country for cattle raising, the larger area of the country being made up of rich grazing lands. The Argentina climate is so temperate that cattle are able to graze the year around, absolutely no attention being necessary for them. Even the smallest "estoncias" have several hundred head of cattle, while on the larger ones graze several thonsand head.

The packing plants buy several hundred head at a time. They usually buy from ten days to two weeks ahead, timing the arrival of the cattle with their killing. The latter operation must also be timed with the sailing of the ships on which the cattle are to be exported.

The greater part of Paraguay is as well adapted, if not better, to stock raising than Argentina. But, there, too, business has come to a standstill. At present, fattening cattle can be bought in Paraguay at $8 or $9 gold a head.

In Argentina the largest estancias contain complete villages, with church, school, etc., in which all the inhabitants are employees of the estancia, living there with their families.

First Work Begun on Great New Stadium at University of Kansas

LAWRENCE, Kan.—A two-block-long horseshoe-shaped concrete stadium settled in the center of the valley of the horseshoe ridge of hills that make up the campus of the University of Kansas here, will serve as a community center as well as athletic field to the entire state of Kansas.

Work on the huge structure, the largest in the Missouri valley, which will be dedicated to the memory of the 126 Kansas university men and women who died in the World War, was begun this week.

Fifteen thousand seats will be finished in time for the big football games this fall, although the structure when complete will seat 32,000 and cost more than $500,000.

The location of the stadium is ideal for pageants of statewide interest, according to state authorities. It is within the city limits of Lawrence and directly on the Golden Belt, Midland Trail, and the hard-surfaced fort-to-fort highway. The facts that there is an automobile for every six persons in Kansas and that the stadium is a soldier memorial are expected to make the big stadium a mecca for conventions and outdoor meetings from all over the middle west.

A football gridiron, a baseball diamond, a quarter-mile running track with a 220-yard straightaway, and tennis courts are the principal features of the arena, which will be below the surface of the ground, and in plain view of all seats.

Leavenworth, $500 Is Yours If You Want It

CLINTON, N. Y.—There is $500 a year waiting for some young man named Leavenworth, if he will only come to Hamilton college here and get it, authorities at the college announced today.

The amount is the yearly installment on the fund placed in the college treasury by the estate of Harriet L. Leavenworth, who provided the sum should be given each year to some student with her name. It is to be used toward the education of the student.

Since 1914 no Leavenworth has claimed the money.

Severe earthquakes in New Zealand have ruined the roads near Auckland. Nothing can be done to provide roads through which the earth's crust will not break. Volcanic workings are constantly going on under ground.

Plague of Crime Has Produced 21 Deaths In Murder Block, Is Claim

By HERBERT LITTLE
United Press Staff Correspondent

CENTERVILLE, Ia.—Iowa's murder block, in the Italian residence district in this little town of 7,000 has seen twenty-one tragic deaths in the last fifteen years.

Beautiful young Italian girls have been the "lorelcis" that caused eight of the murders in the lethal area, and eight young suitors lie in a nearby graveyard.

The mood of killing has hung heavy over the spot. Most of the murderers have been erstwhile friends of the victims, turned traitor to friendship by greed, passion, jealousy and the green-eyed god of envy.

Camilla Russo, pretty school girl, who broke into newspaper headlines a year ago, slew her man in the fatal district. She lived on a corner nearby.

The last crime was three months ago, when a Mexican laborer, refused credit by an Italian ice cream peddler, shot and killed the peddler as he was driving across the street intersection.

Three of the deaths resulted from shooting duels, following arguments over "honor." One man was found dead in the street, pockets ransacked and a pick run through his back, several years ago. Two Italians, pals for years, met with .38 calibre automatics one sultry afternoon, and shot it out. Both were killed.

One Italian, unidentified, was found lying across the crossing with his throat cut. There were whispers of a vendetta. Four of the slaying resulted from drunken debauches, when knives and revolvers were too easily available.

The "hoodoo block" is avoided by Centerville citizens. Delivery boys will travel four or five blocks to avoid the spot.

A local photographer refused to take a picture of the street. "I don't think it would be advisable," he said.

Why Some People Save Easier Than Others—

It is often said that some people save easier than others; that it appears to be natural for them to save. The fact is that the spending of money is very easily accomplished by anyone and that saving takes effort.

The real reason why some people save more successfully is that they save with a purpose, something definite they want to attain, some goal they want to reach.

If you've failed to save or your savings do not amount to what you'd like them, get a purpose—then you'll really save.

RUSSIAN REFUGEES IN EAST EUROPE FACING DEATH

Crisis Grows More Serious as Weeks Pass, Asserts Red Cross Official

By COL. ROBERT E. OLDS,
Of St. Paul, Minn.,
American Red Cross Commander of Europe.
(Written for the United Press)

PARIS—For some time the Russian refugee situation in eastern Europe has been going from bad to worse. It is far and away the most baffling and stubborn problem of the kind which the war has left behind. Every hope of solution has failed and every plan has gone wrong.

The Russian refugee crisis grows more terrible as the days and weeks pass. The Russian refugee is unique in this, that he is literally a man without a country. There is no state to which he owes allegiance, no government to which he can look for favor or protection. His legal status is not merely undefined—it is a nullity. The degree of helplessness to which he has been reduced is, for all practical purposes, zero. Nothing quite like it has ever been known before.

During more than two years' experience with these people, I have been deeply impressed by their sincere and heroic efforts to help themselves and by the absolutely intolerable conditions which have defeated them at every turn.

One For Bold Treatment

We have thought that the solution of the problem might be brought about through the process of gradual absorption. To a very slight extent only has this happened. The reason is that European nations, under existing circumstances, have taken up extraneous elements everywhere to the point of saturation.

The case is quite evidently one for bold and exceptional treatment on a large scale. All measures which have been taken have been confessedly temporary; their justification has been the belief that in some unexplainable way the situation would solve itself. It has been like having faith in miracles. American relief has played a large part. Our presence as an active factor in the situation during the past winter held these things together and prevented a disaster of capital proportions. I should say that American aid saved at the very lowest estimate, 100,000 lives. It is hard to convey an adequate conception of the state of chaos which has prevailed in Europe in regard to this Russian refugee problem. Because of the peculiar lack of status of the Russian refugee, nobody accepts a primary responsibility for him. Appeals fly about from one relief organization to another and each does its bit, but nothing important happens except that the unfortunate refugees keep right on dying. This sort of thing has been going on for more than two years and it will go on for another two years, or until the refugees are all dead, unless the world comes to a realization of the magnitude of the task and takes it up in earnest.

No One Knows Figures

It is now four years since these successive waves of refugees began to roll out from European Russia. They came first after the revolution of May, 1917, then after the second revolution in November of that year, and they have kept coming at irregular intervals ever since.

Nobody knows with certainty how many men, women and children have left Russia in fear and panic and are now living in want and destitution, without friends or country. The figures compiled by the state department in January, 1921, gave an aggregate of more than two million. Since then there has been the Kronstadt migration into Finland, and there is always a steady filtration across the borders of Soviet Russia, adding an unknown number. Twenty-eight European countries have groups of these refugees within their borders.

The situation, as it exists today, is undoubtedly an international responsibility for governments to meet. Public opinion can help by demanding that they meet it promptly and adequately. All that we can hope to do is simply to convey an adequate idea of the imminent seriousness of the situation. There is a great catastrophe impending.

Two winters ago, three hundred thousand prisoners-of-war died in Siberia because governments could not, or would not, move to save them. Siberia is a long way off and the death of those men made, after all, little stir in the world. But the impending Russian refugee disaster is going to happen in the very center of civilized Europe, and it cannot be overlooked or forgotten.

FUNDAMENTAL PRINCIPLES

From a purely coldblooded business point of view, honesty is the best policy. To treat the other man as you would have him treat you is an equally fundamental business principle. This does not mean that you should surrender your rights or neglect to avail yourself of your opportunities. It simply means that in the game of business, the same rules of sportsmanship should prevail as in a boxing bout, in a match of golf, or in a football game.

FOREIGN ACTION TO CHECK MUTINIES IS DEMANDED

Chinese Bandits Are Wearing Uniforms of Soldiers, Is Charge From Official

By CHARLES EDWARD HOGUE
United Press Staff Correspondent

SHANGHAI — Brigandage, under the guise of military government in the various provinces, must be checked by international action, if the country is to be saved from a hopeless condition, according to J. Harold Dollar, vice-president and general manager of the Robert Dollar company.

Mr. Dollar has just returned from a trip up the Yangtsze river and has first-hand information as to conditions that led to the slaughter of 1500 so-called mutinous soldiers, who were really martyrs to a treacherous leader, and the looting of the cities of Ichang and Wauchang.

"Foreign authorities should not take into consideration the niceties of international law when they are dealing with the so-called soldiery here," declared Dollar. "They are dealing with uniformed bandits who do not deserve any consideration other than that of outlaws."

Bandits in Uniform

That the reported mutiny was really instigated by the military chief at Ichang, Mr. Dollar has no doubt. His version, after a careful investigation, is that the soldiers—really organized bandits in uniform—had received no pay for some time and were growing restless. Hence the leader intimated that Ichang offered a fertile field for loot and let the men go to it.

The result was that many of the Chinese residents of the city found themselves homeless and minus their savings and stock in trade and many foreign firms were temporarily put out of business by mobs of loot-hungry uniformed robbers.

An International Settlement at Ichang is the only proper solution of the commercial problem on the Upper Yangtsze, according to Mr. Dollar. Unless the foreign governments step in business there will be badly disrupted permanently. He asserts that this is the view of the Chinese merchants, who suffer more heavily from the bogus soldiery than do the foreigners.

Tells About Slaughter

Mr. Dollar gave a vivid description of the slaughter of the men who looted Ichang. From the accounts gathered by the steamship man it appears that after the commander of the troops at Ichang had allowed them to loot the city he placed them aboard a ship for transport to Wuchang. Upon their arrival at Wuchow the soldiers were disarmed and promised safe conduct to their homes up country. They agree to this when immunity for prosecution for mutiny and looting were made.

The train went to a siding about 60 miles out of Wuchow and the cars were shunted onto the track there. The locomotive was sent up the main line a considerable distance and then two machine gun nests were unmasked and opened fire on the cars containing the soldiers. The machine gunners did their work thoroughly, and the entire contingent was wiped out.

Settlement Is Sought

Petitions have already been prepared by the Chinese merchants at Ichang asking for an International Settlement, and will be forwarded to the proper authorities in the Legations at Peking as well as to the Chinese authorities. These ask for the organization of a settlement similar to that of Shanghai.

Admiral Strauss, commander of the American Asiatic fleet, is up-river at the present time personally directing the operations of the river boats.

There are now three American, two British and two Japanese gunboats stationed at Ichang.

POLITE BANDIT IS LOSER

VANCOUVER, B. C.—"I beg your pardon," said the holdup man. He had noticed the empty sleeve of Charles Brick, wounded war veteran whom he had stopped in a dark street for the purpose of robbery. Brick said the bandit muttered something about not taking anything from "a man like you," and disappeared. Brick said he felt guilty for not calling the man back and telling him he lost his arm in a factory accident, and that he only got a small wound in the war. But the man was gone, he said, so there was nothing to do about it.

LOCAL PEOPLE WILL HAVE DISPLAY AT VALLEY'S FAIR

Needlework Exhibit Will Be good One, Says Miss Eva Daniels of Committe.

Miss Eva Daniels of 324 West Colorado street, local chairman of the needlework committee for the San Fernando Valley fair, reports that a fine selection of fancywork articles have already been signed up for exhibition at the fair. These include embroidered and crocheted table covers, bedspreads, dresses, handkerchiefs, lamp shades and filet crochet work.

Mrs. Ella Richardson, general chairman of the fair committee in Glendale, attended a meeting of committees held in San Fernando yesterday and upon her return reported that everything is progressing nicely.

Committee Increased

With the growth of the San Fernando Valley fair to the point where it will certainly be the biggest and most important fair to be held in southern California this year, the financial and advisory committee has been augmented and strengthened by adding ten of the wealthiest and most influential men in the valley.

These men have joined the financial committee and will give their time and utmost efforts to make this fair truly representative of the vast empire of southern California, and in this way do their "bit" to help build the San Fernando valley. These men are:

F. W. Prince, vice-president First National bank, San Fernando; Fred Weddington, president Lankershim bank; James Fulcher, large deciduous fruit grower and realty dealer, Lankershim; Chas. Wardlaw, vice-president First National bank of Van Nuys; E. R. Holloway, Van Nuys, owner of one of the largest hatcheries in state; Alfred Brant, Brant rancho and breeder of Guernsey cattle; Alec Jeffries, rancher and beet grower; J. M. Douglas, president First National bank of San Fernando; M. H. Adamson, Adohr stock farms.

It is known that three other influential men of the valley will also be asked to serve on this committee and with these twelve men added to the present committee, the ten towns of the valley will have a financial and advisory committee capable of handling any project, no matter how large. Those having the promotion of a great annual Southern California Fair in the San Fernando valley most at heart may feel, now, a definite prospect of its accomplishment.

Money Quickly Raised

At a big meeting in San Fernando last Tuesday, representatives from all points of the valley decided to raise $15,000 for additional expenses in promoting the big fair. The Chamber of Commerce of San Fernando pledged itself to raise $6,000 of the added amount. Interest and enthusiasm for the big event was so intense that Saturday night, four days later, saw the entire amount, in cash, on deposit in the bank. The new members of the financial and advisory committee have pledged themselves to raise the remaining $9,000 and they are confident of having it subscribed before Saturday night of this week.

Every department of the fair is growing splendidly and at the present writing it would be hard to say which of the big departments will take first honors.

The Los Angeles county live stock show, which is a part of this year's fair and which is in charge of N. H. Adamson, has made great strides this week and it definitely promises to be as large or larger than the live stock show that was held last year at Exposition park in Los Angeles.

The staging of a show of this size and with entries from the most important breeders of thoroughbred stock in southern California will reflect great credit to the San Fernando valley and to the committee in charge of this division.

A partial list of the entries received thus far include the following: Holstein cattle—Fred Hartsook rancho, Lankershim; the Maxwell farms, Anita Baldwin's Santa Anita rancho. Santa Monica Dairy company, the Clapp herd, Earl Graham, Compton, and Carl Ray of Lankershim. Guernsey cattle — Brant rancho, Adohr Stock farms, Dr. A. B. Wessels, Chino, San Diego Co. and possibly Walter Dupee of Santee, San Deigo Co. Jerseys—The Windsor ranch and Carl Ray's ranch.

Of Interest to Dairymen

The committee in charge of the cattle division will endeavor to feature some stunts that will be of particular interest to commercial, practical dairymen. In previous fairs in southern California, all the interest has centered around the thoroughbred cattle, and little, if any attention, has been paid to the practical dairyman. In this class, a three-day contest for butter fat production has been arranged and the cow testing association will feature an event.

In the department of swine, exhibits of Durocs will be made from Brant rancho. Your Duroc farm, Whittier, and J. C. Craig. Eddie Meier of Santa Susanna and the Huth ranch of Ontario will exhibit Berkshires and LeRoy Moser will exhibit Poland Chinas.

Alfred Brant, who is in charge of the sheep, says they are scarce, but he will promise to have a fine representation of good, fat sheep and E. J. Sturgis says he is being flooded with goats and that he will have more than 100 goats on the opening day.

Altogether, it is estimated that there will be between 800 and 1000 animals entered in the live stock division, including horses and mules.

Adult and junior judging contests will be special features of the live stock show. The junior judging contest will be held by W. G. Waterhouse of the county farm bureau, in connection with the board of education's junior livestock club work. Peculiar interest centers around the junior judging contest from the fact that the teams are not alone contesting for the honors from this fair, but they are at the same time competing against the junior clubs at the state fair at Sacramento and the winners will be sent to the national livestock show at Minneapolis.

E. R. Elkins, the director of the fair, and all the members of his committees, are doing everything in their power that will add to the pleasure and comfort of the visitor to the coming educational event.

Carmel Myers will be at the Glendale Theatre today only, in the most romantic story of her successful screen career. It is called "The Kiss," and was filmed in the most picturesque spots in Southern California from the story by Johnston McCulley, originally called "Little Erolinda."

Under drowsing pepper trees that encircle a magnificent old hacienda, a girl dreams of Audre Baldarama, son of the feudal don who rules Southern California in the golden age of love and battle. How she lifts herself from the low station to which she had been born and becomes the loved one of the gallant young aristocrat, is a point in the story reached only after a series of the most startling adventure.

Jack Conway, noted as a leading man and a director, produced "The Kiss," using the actual locale of the original story, sun-splashed Southern California, where the original haciendas of the old dons are still crumbling to an honorable decay, their dust sanctified in the glorious history of the republic.

"In Again" with Harry Sweet, Aesop's Fables Modernized and Urban Movie Chats complete the delightful bill—one every Californian will want to see.

REGAINING HER HEALTH

Friends of Mrs. Logan Fairchild of Altadena, formerly of Glendale and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Engle of 814 East Harvard street, will be pleased to learn that she is much improved in health. Mrs. Fairchild has been quite ill for several months and it has only been the last two weeks that she has been able to visit her parents and friends in Glendale.

Berlin Woman Ape Prussian Appearance

BERLIN—Monocle wearing by women is now considered here as quite modish.

Before the war, one might see, here and there, a woman wearing one of these glasses which have done so much to give the Prussian a reputation for being hard-faced. But now, it is becoming fairly popular, especially among "super-cultivated" folk.

Authoresses, actresses, "people ahead of the times," are the type effecting this new style. With the makeup generally goes a walking stick, and very often a Dachshund, poodle or lapdog. These same women are likely to smoke a cigaret as they stroll along Kurfuerstendam.

Thus far, they haven't adopted the scarred face—the sure sign of Prussian education and Kultur.

OLIVE OIL IN BABIES' DIET

Dr. E. E. Graham of Philadelphia recommends the addition of olive oil to the diet of babies in their first two years. It is digested well by most infants and supplies them with additional fat.

GIVES EGG FIRST AID

PASADENA—A young turkey is today strutting around the yard of Mrs. F. Bailey just as if it had never had a terribly close escape when it was nothing but a turkey egg. While the mother turkey was sitting on the eggs, one egg became cracked at the small end. Mrs. Bailey saw it, and determined on prompt first aid. She got some adhesive plaster, and patched the egg up. The idea would have been fine, but the mother turkey revolted, and refused to sit on the damaged egg.

Again refusing to be stumped, Mrs. Bailey placed the egg in a slow oven with a thermometer, and for several days kept it at the approximate heat of the original nest. On the third day the chick began picking away, and came out of the shell. After nursing it along until it was strong enough to stand, Mrs. Bailey put it back with the turkey mother, who accepted it with good grace despite her early objections.

THIS DOG IS FISH HOUND

SONORA—Henry Ludkins has a trained fish hound. He says so. He didn't know it himself until he went fishing recently in a small tributary of the Stanislaus. His dog, which he thought only an ordinary mongrel, noticed a fish struggling to flop out of a shallow pool in the rocks. In a second the dog was in after it, and had the fish in his mouth. Ludkins is going to purchase a reel for the dog's leash.

FIVE BROTHERS ARE JAILED

SIGOURNEY, Ia.—Five brothers filled the Sigourney jail here this week. At that, the family apparently wasn't big enough, for their arrest followed "too much talking," wherein one related to a friend their prosperity in the gentle art of bootlegging. Now the five Gehring brothers, with their hired man, are awaiting trial. Evidences of brewing on a large scale were discovered by the officers. Forty gallons of powerful corn whiskey, locally nicknamed "TNT," together with stills, jugs, bottles and other containers, were scattered over the Gehring farm.

SOUTHERN SECTION OF CITY STARTS ORGANIZATION

Progressive Business Men In Meeting Discuss Problems and Plans for Future

big things in a business way, these things were bound to come if improvements were made to make this section more inviting, he stated.

C. J. Orff, who has resided in Glendale for more than ten years, agreed with Mr. White as regards the movement being for Greater Glendale instead of being referred to as for South Glendale. He further stated that the section referred to is the gateway into Los Angeles for practically all of the traffic coming from the northern part of the state and also the gateway for the entire San Fernando valley. Factors mentioned by him which would add materially in the development of this "gateway" district were the Second street tunnel in Los Angeles, which when completed would bring a greater number of people in less time to this city, and the contemplated union terminal station in the northern part of Los Angeles would bring a large number of railroad employees and also tourists into Glendale.

More Factories Coming

Another factor indusive to the growth of the San Fernando road section of the city mentioned by him was the railroad and high powered electric lines. Electricity or electric power, he stated, can be purchased at a less cost here than right at Niagara Falls. Mr. Orff alluded to the factories already started between Glendale and Burbank and stated that more were bound to come.

Mr. Schram stated that he believed a great deal could be done if all of the enthusiastic property owners and business men of the district would form one "booster" organization. A motion to this effect was unanimously carried.

Temporary officers elected until a permanent organization is effected were G. E. Schram, president, Harry E. White, vice president; C. L. Brenkman, secretary.

A committee consisting of W. E. Anderson and C. L. Brenkman was appointed to secure a suitable name for the organization.

After a general discussion of improvements mentitoned above, the meeting adjourned to meet next Thursday, September 1, at the Knights of Pythias hall at 1500 South San Fernando road at 7:30 o'clock in the evening.

Reports Upon Water Distribution System, Grand View District

T. W. Watson, retiring city manager, at the meeting of the City Council last night reported relative to the purchase of the water distribution system in the Grand View district, owned by E. H. Learned, as follows:

"In regard to the purchase of the water distribution system in the Grand View district that is now owned and operated by E. H. Learned:

"When the matter of annexation of the Grand View district to the city of Glendale was first discussed some three years ago, the question of taking over by the city the distributing system that was then furnishing a portion of that district with water and providing for the extension of city water service to the entire district was one of the principal objects sought by annexation.

"An inventory at that time was taken of the Learned property and the valuation placed thereon was $1,250 (inventory is herewith submitted). This was the price informally agreed upon at which the city would purchase this system in the event of annexation of the district to the city of Glendale. Additions have been made to this system mostly consisting of service connections since 1917, bringing the total investment including original inventory to $1,683.69. Deducting 5 per cent for depreciation on additions and betterments leaves the net value of the system this date $1,639.94.

Money Is Available

"Now that this territory is officially a part of the city of Glendale and the people having voted bonds sufficient to provide a distributing system covering the entire district as agreed, the matter of purchasing the Learned system and making it a part of the city's distributing system in that district should be given consideration. There is an appropriation in the water department budget for this year of $3,000 for water mains and minor extensions to the system out of which an appropriation might be made covering the cost of this system.

"Mr. Learned has been furnished water during these several years at city rates for which he now owes the city $689.52. He owes for the installation of meters and services by the city $433.69, making a total of $1,123.21. The amount required to balance accounts between Mr. Learned and the city in the event the distributing system is purchased as set forth above would be $516.73."

FARM LIFE PROVES OF BIG BENEFIT TO PRISONERS

Municipal Institution Just Outside of Glendale Is Doing Great Work

"An unusual institution"—that is the way Genoa Brundage, superintendent of the Los Angeles municipal farm in Griffith park, just "over the river" from Glendale, describes the place where petty offenders are brought back to good behavior.

A bridge connects the farm with the San Fernando Road at Vine street in the Grand View district. There one will find a score or more prisoners from the Los Angeles jails working out their salvation at the humble yet useful vocation of tilling the soil.

All told, seventy-five men have had the privilege of farming since Public Defender James H. Pope of Los Angeles decided last spring that it was better to have men work out in the open rather than to lie around in jails. In this the city council and police commission and judges concurred with the result that Mr. Brundage was employed as superintendent of one of the rare examples of a municipal uplift movement.

It's Success from Start

From its very inception the farm was a success. Unfortunate men, principally the victims of booze, who have committed some minor offense, are selected by Mr. Pope and other officials to begin a "new life." So far only ten have taken French leave and the city is satisfied that they are no longer in this vicinity. Two others have been remanded to the stockade for vicious habits, but the great majority profit by the lessons found in the daily tasks.

Life at the farm is reduced to the simplest form. On arrival there prisoners are given clean shirts, overalls and shoes—discarding the raiment of beggared days in the jail. They are fed better than any laborer in Los Angeles, according to Mr. Brundage, and clean beds, shower baths, etc., add to their physical comfort.

The daily chores include milking cows or caring for the retired fire horses and the work day is spent in garden or field cultivating vegetables for the table and crops for sale.

Glad to Get Graduates

The latter is not for profits, but goes to the men in food and clothing, as the expenses of administration at the farm are borne by the city. And it "gets off cheap" because there is no investment in additional jail space or guards to employ. To revert to the money made by the farm, besides necessities a good suit of clothes is provided every man when his sentence expires.

A Los Angeles employment agent is glad to get "graduates" of the school to accept jobs and fitted with new ideas about life, decent clothes and a chance for work there is hardly one that cannot boast of "making good" according to the letters received by Mr. Brundage from points as far away as Savannah, Ga.

"Sometimes I have to talk to them and make them see things the right way, but there is no 'rough stuff' on my farm. It is a case of give and take and the best recommendation I have is the fact that two men are overstaying their sentence. Can you beat that?"

JUNIOR AUXILIARY MEETS

Members of the Junior Auxiliary of the Glendale Music club met last night at the home of the president, Miss Veda Knapp, and formed a chorus, of which Mrs. C. A. Parker will be director and Miss Leonora Rose accompanist. Miss Agnes Thaxter was appointed secretary to look after the dues of the chorus, which will be 25 cents for the first month and 10 cents a month thereafter. This money will be used to purchase music. The next chorus meeting will be at the home of Miss Knapp next Wednesday evening.

SUMMARY OF MANY IMPORTANT PROJECTS NOW BEFORE COUNCIL MADE BY RETIRING CITY MANAGER

T. W. Watson, On Eve Of Leaving Office, Prepares Statement Of Civic Matters Pending And Makes Number Of Suggestions

SUMMARY OF IMPORTANT projects before the attention of municipal officials was filed with the City Council last night by T. W. Watson, retiring as city manager. The summary deals with the business district sewer system; the sewer system in Verdugo canyon; a general sewer system for the city; disposal of city garbage; the water and electrical business; water distribution mains; the water supply for certain districts; the water rates; street improvements, including Los Feliz road; the swimming pool and park; also other matters.

The retiring city manager went to considerable trouble in gathering and preparing the summary and it was received with considerable interest by the City Council. Due to its importance, it is given in full in The Evening News herewith.

August 25, 1921.

Honorable City Council, Glendale, California:

Gentlemen: Before retiring from the office of city manager on the 31st instant, I deem it expedient that I submit to your council a summary of the major projects that are now engaging the attention of the city with the thought that such a summary will be of some assistance to you and the incoming city manager in that it will call attention in a comprehensive way to the most important matters that will no doubt engage your attention during the immediate future.

1. SEWER SYSTEMS FOR A PORTION OF BUSINESS DISTRICT

Plans and specifications have been prepared and legal proceedings are awaiting the securing of certain easements over private property, all of which I understand have been secured but one. In connection with this project, the following might well be borne in mind:

(a) No connection should be permitted to be made to this system to serve property not included in the district assessed to cover the cost thereof.

(b) Ordinance should be provided requiring the installation of grease traps at all connections where large amounts of grease are liable to accumulate, such as restaurants, hotels, etc. Would suggest that such ordinance provide for regular inspection of all grease traps required thereby and that a small fee or license be charged to cover cost of inspection.

(c) Disposal unit No. 1 will be provided with observation manholes for the septic tanks and each cesspool. R. F. Goudy, assistant engineer of the state board of health, has suggested that observations should be made to determine the results obtained in the purification of the sewage in this unit and all data gathered that would be of use in determining the effectiveness of the unit.

(d) As the district grows and the volume of sewage to be handled increases, additional disposal will be necessary. This might be provided for in the annual budget. At least one additional disposal unit should be provided for in next year's budget.

2. SEWAGE DISPOSAL SYSTEM FOR VERDUGO CANYON DISTRICT

Fifty thousand dollars of bonds of municipal improvement district No. 3 have been authorized by the voters of that district to provide trunk line sewer extending the entire length of the canyon, reaching present location of city reservoirs on Glendale avenue. After the abandonment of these reservoirs by the water department this location might well be used as a temporary location for a sewage disposal plant to serve this district. The people of the district understand that $10,000 of this bond issue is to be used for a sewage disposal plant and that redemption and interest thereon is to be paid for from the general revenues of the city. This affords an opportunity to develop a disposal unit of the most modern design by means of which the solids of this district may be converted into commercial fertilizer and the liquid clarified and purified to the extent that it will be practicable to use it for irrigation purposes or to sterilize it by clarination and dispose of it as ordinary storm water and thus point the way to a solution of the sewer problem for the entire city.

The activated sludge process should be investigated thoroughly in this connection. Ralph Hilscher, director of the state board of health, has designed two small activated sludge plants in the state that are working successfully. Mr. Hilscher will assist the city of Glendale in every way possible in this matter as will also his assistant, Mr. Goudy, whose offices are located in Los Angeles.

Proposed contract with Olmsted & Gillelen, sanitary engineers, to draw plans for this disposal plant has been prepared and referred to committee of the whole.

3. IN REGARD TO THE LAYING OF LATERALS IN VERDUGO CANYON DISTRICT

Consideration should be given immediately to the laying of laterals in the streets extending east and west of Canada boulevard in the Verdugo Woodlands district. These laterals to carry the sewage from residences in that portion of the canyon to the trunk line. This matter should proceed so that the installation of the laterals would be completed about the same time that the trunk line is installed. The protection of the city's water supply and the immediate development of the canyon requires that the main trunk line, the laterals and the disposal works, be installed and in operation without delay.

4. IN REGARD TO PLANS FOR A GENERAL SEWAGE DISPOSAL

The commission consisted of twelve members and the city manager appointed to work with Olmsted and Gillelen in deciding on a plan for general sewage disposal for the entire city and to report with their recommendations to the council within one year's time from the date of their appointment which was on February 3, 1921, has held a number of meetings and has made considerable investigation. The commission has held no meetings lately. It is understood that they are awaiting the submission of a plan or plans by the engineers.

5. IN REGARD TO GATHERING AND DISPOSAL OF CITY GARBAGE

Contract with Mr. Orendorff whereby he purchases city garbage will expire February 13, 1922. This matter should have early consideration so that arrangements for the disposal of the city garbage might be well advanced before the expiration of this contract.

6. IN REGARD TO DISPOSAL OF WASTE MATTER AND PAPERS

Some better means of disposing of waste paper that cannot be baled and sold as per contract with the Paraffine Companies, Inc., Economy Paper Plant should be provided; possibly a small incinerator might be constructed at the location suggested for the sewage disposal works. The city engineer has preparaed diagram and estimate of cost of small incinerator adapted for this purpose.

7. GENERAL STATEMENT IN REGARD TO WATER AND ELECTRICAL BUSINESS

The Electrical Business. This business is on a splendid financial basis as set forth in our report of July 28. The revenues of this business are now and will no doubt continue to be sufficient to take care of operating expenses together with replacements, betterments and extensions to the system. Heretofore a considerable portion of these revenues have been used for betterments and extensions to the water business. In order to do this the reserve for depreciation on the electrical equipment and distribution system was used largely in support of the water business. This policy should now be discontinued as some of the original installations of the electrical system will require replacement within the next three years and depreciation funds of electrical business should be reserved for that purpose. The entire revenues of the electrical business will be needed from now on to take care of the needs of that department.

The Water Business. The financing of the water business is a much more difficult problem than that of the electrical business inasmuch as over twice as much money per consumer served is required for plant investment. On this account a portion of the investment in the water business should be supplied by direct investment of the consumer served, that is, by payment of service connections. A portion of the investment should also be supplied by assessment or tax on property served. This is the only basis upon which reasonable water rates can be maintained. This is the basis upon which the budget for this year is made up. The revenues of the water business last year were not sufficient to take care of all minor extensions and betterments to the system notwithstanding the fact that no distribution or service mains were paid for from the revenues. There was devoted to the support of the water business from the revenues of the electrical business last year the sum of $4,703.40. Since the organization of the water department there has been used from the revenues of the electrical business the sum of $72,546.70 in the support of the water business. As stated before this cannot well continue and the water business will necessarily have to be financed on some other basis. All expenditures on account of the water business that cannot be taken care of by revenue will necessarily have to be taken care of in some manner by assessment on property or general tax. No water business in southern California that I know of, municipal or privately owned, is financed on the basis of the revenues of the business carrying the entire investment, that furnishes water at rates as low as the Glendale rates are.

8. GRAND VIEW DISTRICT

Plans have been prepared and adopted by your council for a distributing system in this district consisting of eight inch mains to be laid on all the principal streets extending east and west from Grand View avenue. Bids for the pipe and fittings for this system will be received September 1. The installation might well be done direct by the Public Service Department. The understanding is that property holders of that district will pay for the four-inch cast-iron laterals that will connect these mains on intersecting streets.

9. DISTRIBUTION MAINS TO BE LAID FROM PROCEEDS OF $100,000 BOND ISSUE

Plans for the installation of these mains have been prepared and submitted to your council for consideration together with estimates of costs of the several installations and budget appropriations therefor. These plans are in accordance with outline given to people during bond campaign as to proposed location of these mains. Prices of material have been reduced materially during the last few months and it would seem advisable to proceed with the laying of these mains without delay as certain sections of the city are in need of the water supply that will be provided thereby, especially the southeastern and northwestern sections. These bonds were authorized with the understanding that should Proposition No. 1 carry, that is, that the laying of four-inch cast iron service mains be financed by bond issue, then $40,000 of this issue would be devoted to the installation of service mains and that service mains would be laid to the extent of $40,000 upon streets, the property holders of which had petitioned for street improvement where such improvement necessitated replacement of present service mains or the installation of service mains where none exist at the present time, and if Proposition No. 2 carried that wherever the distribution mains to be laid from the proceeds of this bond issue serve also as service mains that the proportionate cost of a service main be assessed to the property served thereby. Proposition No. 2 having carried, it is presumed that the policy set forth thereby will be followed, in which event possibly 30 per cent of the cost of the distribution mains planned to be laid from the proceeds of this $100,000 bond issue will be returned from assessments on property that will be served as service mains by these distribution mains. This will afford a considerable sum for the laying of additional distribution mains which will no doubt be needed in the near future or additional bonds authorized.

10. WATER SUPPLY FOR NORTH GLENDALE SECTION RECENTLY ANNEXED TO CITY.

This district will require additional distribution mains some of which will be a continuation of the mains that are provided for in the Grand View installation extending east from Grand View avenue. That portion of this district north of Kenneth road and above the 660-foot contour will require a distribution main extending east from Grand View avenue that will connect with the high level system now served from the Brand reservoir. No plans as yet have been worked out for the financing of these installations. This is a matter that should be taken up at once inasmuch as the principal object sought by annexation was the extension of the city's water service to this district. There are two plans available for this—the formation of a municipal improvement district as was done in the Grand View section and the authorization

OCCULT POWER IS CLAIMED

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 26.—Madalynne Obenchain may be charged with an occult power over men, when she goes on trial for her life in connection with the murder of wealthy John Belton Kennedy. This was the assertion today of Malcolm Maclaren of Glendale, commissioned by the district attorney's office to direct a special investigation into the "midnight murder" at Beverly Glen on August 5. "Mrs. Obenchain, admittedly interested in the occult, held some sort of a mysterious power over Arthur C. Burch, I am convinced," Maclaren declared. "He came half way across the continent when she merely beckoned. I am positive that Burch was activated by a mystic love, or fascination, of some sort, possibly tinging on occultism." Richard Kittrelle, associated with Ralph Obenchain and Paul Schenk in the defense of Madalynne and Burch, branded Maclaren's assertions as "far-fetched and absurd." "They could never introduce occultism of that sort in court in a million years," he said. "The district attorney's office knows it."

NEW ARRESTS MAY RESULT

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 26.—Investigations admittedly under way by the Sacramento police and the sheriff's office may lead to additional arrests soon in the case of William Hightower, held for the murder of Father Patrick Heslin, murdered Colma priest. While officials refused early today to give out definite information they said the "matter was developing." Two women, one said to answer the description of the "Dolly Mason" whom Hightower described at the time the body was found and three men were reported to be under suspicion.

It was understood that the theory being followed is that Hightower was a tool of these five persons and, as such, wrote the note demanding the ransom of Father Heslin after he was kidnaped. One member of the group, it was said, was a woman who once was charged with complicity in a murder in Lawton, Okla. Another was said to be known in Salt Lake.

Among the 840 members of the Northwestern university graduating class is a blind student who worked his way through.

SUMMARY OF MANY IMPORTANT PROJECTS NOW BEFORE COUNCIL

T. W. Watson, On Eve Of Leaving Office, Prepares Statement Of Civic Matters Pending

thereby of sufficient bonds to cover the cost of this installation or the installation of the system under the Voorman Act which would involve an assessment against the property benefitted. The former plan if practicable would no doubt be more acceptable to the district. Under the plans adopted for the Grand View district and for the city in general the property holders in this district would finance the cost of four-inch distribution mains also. Plans should be worked out as soon as possible for a water distribution system for this district, especially for that section that lies above the 660-foot contour inasmuch as it will be impracticable to operate the distributing system of that section to best advantage until some means is provided whereby the higher level may be served independent of the section that lies below the 660-foot contour. At present a considerable portion of the water that is used on the lower level has to be raised to the Brand reservoir which is 180 feet higher than the Grand View reservoir.

11. DISTRIBUTING SYSTEM FOR SIERRA AVENUE ANNEXATION DISTRICT (PORTION OF SYCAMORE CANYON SECTION)

The principal object sought by the property holders of this section by the annexation of this district to the city of Glendale was the securing of a water supply. They are expecting that measures will be taken without delay to form a municipal improvement district by which the voters of the section may authorize sufficient bonds to install a water distribution system adequate to supply all the territory of the section that lies below the 900 foot contour. It will be practicable to serve this section with gravity water from the Verdugo canyon when the development works and pressure line proposed to be installed there have been placed in service. Until that time however, a booster pump will be necessary in connection with this system to raise the water from the 720 foot level as is done by the small pump lately installed at the Grand View reservoir. This should be considered as a permanent installation however, as it will insure the district served thereby a supply of water at any time the Verdugo canyon supply should prove inadequate to fully serve the entire foothill district by which we mean all the territory within the city limits that lies above the 660 foot contour.

12. IN REGARD TO FOUR INCH CAST IRON DISTRIBUTION MAINS FOR THE REPLACEMENT OF PRESENT MAINS THAT ARE OLD AND WORN

No provision has been made in the annual budget for financing these replacements or extensions. The revenues of the water business based on present rates will not produce funds for this purpose. It is presumed that the policy adopted by resolution of the board of trustees in accordance with the decision of the voters at the election held March 29 last will be followed in this respect, that is that these extensions will be financed by assessment levied against property benefitted thereby. It would greatly facilitate the carrying out of this plan if an ordinance were adopted by your council providing a direct and simple procedure whereby this work could be done by the city, eliminating in as far as possible all overhead costs. A revolving fund should be provided to finance this work while under construction.

This is one of the city's largest problems from the standpoint of financing and will involve a total expenditure from one-half to three-fourths million dollars to complete the system of distribution mains for the entire city. This can be considered on the basis of a new project as there are only a little over three miles of cast iron distribution mains laid at the present time. All the rest of the system of service mains now in operation consists of pipes that are old and will have to be replaced shortly. This together with extensions in new districts involves a financial problem unless it is handled along the lines of the policy adopted therefor. If the water rates in Glendale are to remain on the present comparatively low basis and the policy continued of taking care of all bonds issued on account of the water department from the revenues of the water business, it will be necessary that an investment in distribution mains of from $30 to $40 for each fifty foot lot be made directly by the owners of all property served with water from the city's distribution system both for replacement of old mains and the laying of new extensions.

13. IN REGARD TO IMPROVEMENTS TO WATER SYSTEM CONTEMPLATED UNDER $260,000 BOND ISSUE.

These improvements are practically completed with exception of works that were to be constructed in Verdugo canyon consisting of a twenty inch pressure main extending from the Verdugo road reservoir north along Verdugo road and Canada boulevard to the north line of Tract No. 250, about the center of the canyon, and the installation at that location of wells and pumps to raise the water from the subterranean streams to the surface, also small reservoir at that location. These works could not be constructed owing to advances in the cost of material and installation after the original estimates were made. A statement is attached hereto of expenditures to date from the $260,000 bond issue.

With the completion of the works set forth above, a complete water development, transmission and storage unit will have been created that will insure an adequate water supply for present and immediate future needs entirely independent of the Verdugo Canyon supply. The Verdugo Canyon supply will eventually be all needed for the foothill districts, that is the district of the city lying above the 660-foot elevation including Verdugo and Sycamore Canyon Districts. These are yet to be supplied with distribution systems. An additional bond issue of possibly $125,000 will be necessary to complete the Verdugo Canyon development works which should include in addition to the pressure main, pumping plants, etc., a large reservoir similar to the Verdugo Road reservoir. There are a number of matters as between the city and other owners of water rights in Verdugo Canyon concerning which a complete understanding should be had before a bond issue for the installation of Verdugo Canyon water development works as set forth above is submitted to the voters, inasmuch as it will be practicable to go ahead with these development works before such understanding has been reached. These matters can be taken up with those who hold the larger interests on the basis of working out a plan to supply water for their property in that vicinity that cannot be supplied from present city mains and reservoirs. Before the city assumes any obligations to furnish water in Verdugo Canyon district, the owners of all property for which a city water supply is to be furnished should be required to quit claim to the city all of their Verdugo Canyon water rights.

In this connection there is a contract pending with the F. P. Newport company whereby the city may by meeting certain conditions acquire the present water system in that section, the F. P. Newport company's water rights and certain easements for development works. An understanding and agreement as to all these matters might well be had before request is made for bond issue covering cost of proposed development works for Verdugo Canyon.

14. IN REGARD TO DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM FOR VERDUGO CANYON DISTRICT

The property holders of that section have not as yet participated in any expense in connection with the city water department except their proportionate part of about $4,000 that was originally invested through taxation when the water business was taken over by the city of Glendale. Nature has placed an abundant supply of water for that section in the valley itself. The city of Glendale by the investment of approximately one-half million dollars has developed an independent supply for the main Glendale valley which leaves the Verdugo Canyon water supply available for the foothill district as set forth above. Additional development works costing probably $125,000 as also set forth above should no doubt be financed by general bond issue that would be supported from the general revenues of the water business. It would seem right and proper for the Verdugo Canyon District to follow the plan followed by the Grand View District and as is proposed to be followed by the Sycamore Canyon District and other foothill sections, that is, form a municipal improvement district and issue bonds thereof sufficient to cover the cost of a distributing system for that district together with local reservoirs and a booster pump to raise the supply from the reservoir that will be located in the center of the valley at about the 900-foot elevation, to the 1100-foot level.

15. ADDITIONAL WATER SUPPLY

As stated before the completion of the development works now under way will give the city a supply of water sufficient for present and immediate future needs, nevertheless the present growth and expansion of the city demands that immediate consideration be given to the purchase and installation of a third booster pump which would be a duplication of the one just installed, two or three additional wells and a large reservoir, a duplication of the Verdugo Road reservoir to be located on the Grand View reservoir site where the small reservoir is now being constructed. This will probably require a bond issue of something like $125,000. It is essential that these improvements be provided for in the near future and taken together with the proposed development for Verdugo Canyon a bond issue of approximately two hundred fifty thousand will be required. Under the present policy the revenues of the water business will be required to carry the interest and redemption on these proposed bonds in addition to bonds now outstanding in the sum of $551,500. With such heavy capital investments pending together with those already made it will be necessary to conserve the revenues of the water department in every way in order that they may be met from revenues based on the present low rates.

16. IN REGARD TO WATER RATES

In the several estimates and reports in regard to the water business that we have submitted heretofore we have endeavored to make it clear that it is probable that an increase in water rates will be found necessary if the revenues of the water business are going to be adequate to meet the amounts necessary for bond redemption and interest on the outstanding bonds issued for water development purposes and distribution mains in addition to meeting the operating expenses of the water department. I believe that serious consideration should be given to this matter immediately for the reason that the revenue of the water business as yet has not been equal in any fiscal year to meet all the demands upon it for extensions and betterments in addition to carrying the financing of bond issues as stated above. If the policy of providing for replacement and installation of service mains by assessment on property benefited thereby is strictly adhered to, it will still tax the revenues of the water business to the limit to carry the $551,500 of water bonds now outstanding and those that will be necessary in the immediate future for general development works and distribution mains and as stated before it is probable that rates will have to be raised somewhat to do this.

In this connection I would call attention to the need of the installation at the main pumping plant on San Fernando road and at the Verdugo road at the Verdugo road reservoir of meters or other practicable water measuring devices to register the quantity of water entering the distributing system so that the actual and comparative cost of pumped water and gravity water may be obtained and also that the per cent of loss as between the amount of water entering the distributing system and the amount sold and charged to consumers may be had. These are very important items in determining the efficiency of the operation of the water system and they also afford the main basis upon which to base charges for water furnished consumers. The absence of ability to obtain these figures has handicapped the water department somewhat in the past. I therefore would recommend that these installations be made.

IN REGARD TO STREETS

17. OPENING OF LOS FELIZ ROAD BETWEEN SAN FERNANDO ROAD AND CENTRAL AVE.

By which that one block of Los Feliz road will be widened to 80 feet which will permit of a fifty-six-foot roadway.

It is fortunate that these proceedings are well advanced at this time as the traffic in that one block at times taxes the capacity of the present width of roadway. Owners of property in the two blocks east extending from Pacific avenue to Glendale avenue have requested plans for the widening of that portion of Los Feliz road. They have been promised that three or four alternate plans with estimates of cost will be prepared and submitted to them at an early date. The plan favored most at the present time is to widen that portion of the street by taking about five feet on either side of parkings for road purposes. This can be done without opening and widening proceedings and made to conform nicely at Central avenue with the present plan of widening from Central avenue to San Fernando road.

18. THE PLAN FOR WIDENING THE EAST ROADWAY

At San Fernando road is well under way and with the securing of the necessary easements which have all been promised the improvement may be brought about within the next six months.

19. IN REGARD TO PATTERSON AVENUE

It is unfortunate that the proceedings for opening Patterson avenue will have to be abandoned owing to errors in description. It is to be hoped, however, that the new proceedings will be initiated at once and that the larger property holders will co-operate with the city in bringing about this most desirable improvement.

20. IN REGARD TO THE OPENING AND IMPROVEMENT OF WEST BROADWAY

A plan for this has been furnished a citizens' committee who have undertaken to obtain the necessary signatures to a joint deed conveying to the city a right of way for street purposes over a strip of ground sixty feet in width extending to San Fernando road on a line with the present improved portion of Broadway extending west from Pacific avenue. The city has procured a certificate of title at an expense of $50 which sets forth the names of property holders whose signatures are necessary on this deed. This has been done to aid the committee with the understanding that the city will be reimbursed for the $50 if the plan is carried out. It might be well to call this committee together and ascertain if there is anything further that the city can do to assist them. Mr. Doner is the chairman of this committee.

21. In regard to opening and extension of Ivy, Hawthorne and Salem streets and Wilson and California avenues from their present west terminus to San Fernando Road.

Petitions have been requested for these extensions and have been prepared and placed in the hands of parties who are circulating the same.

22. IN REGARD TO RECONSTRUCTION OF OILED AND GRAVELED STREETS

There are forty-seven miles of streets in the city that have been improved by grading and oiling the natural soil and in some instances a small amount of rock has been used as previously reported. These streets are all in need of reconstruction at the present time. The material in the roadways can be worked over by completely pulverizing it and bringing it to a smooth surface in such a manner as to produce a roadway that will stand more and heavier traffic than as originally constructed. These roadways should then be resurfaced with oil, No. 3 rock and screenings. This reconstructing and resurfacing will cost if done directly by the city on a cash basis approximately $25 per fifty foot lot. Heretofore the city has not had authority to do this work directly but would have to resort to the legal procedure of one of the local improvement acts and let the work by contract. This would add thirty to forty per cent to the cost. It has been recognized for some time that these streets need attention. It has been impossible however to reconstruct them with funds in hand for street maintenance. During the war and the reconstruction period following the war when all costs were high, it was thought best not to undertake a general plan of reconstruction, but to wait for a readjustment of prices and for authority which we have obtained under the charter to do this work directly on a cash basis eliminating inasmuch as possible all overhead expense. Article 6, Section 10 of the charter gives us this authority. We would therefore suggest that an ordinance be prepared whereby the city could proceed to reconstruct all of these streets within the next year or so and levy assessments for the cost thereof against the lots benefited thereby. This work should be done on a cash basis. If a bonding plan is adopted 10 or 15 per cent will be added to the cost and those who pay the cash will have to pay that as well as those who take advantage of the bonding plan.

In order to carry out the above plan it would be advisable to request the voters of the city to authorize a bond issue of about $40,000, a small portion of which should be used to purchase equipment and the balance used as a revolving fund to finance the work under construction All amounts advanced to be repaid when work is completed. A percentage should be charged against this work to meet redemption and interest on these bonds. It is probably not best for the city to undertake to extend the plan outlined above to the heavy street construction. Temporary work such as oiling in order to avoid having to sprinkle roadways and alleys might be done under this plan where property holders are not ready to go ahead with permanent paving. There are probably twenty miles of streets within the city limits that have never been improved in any way by the property holders. During the extensive building operations of the last three years a large portion of the property fronting on these streets has been improved and it would seem advisable to at least have the roadways oiled in the same manner as Maple street east of Glendale avenue has been improved and as Arden avenue west of Central avenue is now being improved. This class of construction makes a good temporary roadway that will serve well for four or five years and if built on proper grade will form good sub-base upon which a finished surface may be placed later when the property holders desire it. It is our belief that there is no one thing that could be done during the next year or so that would enhance values generally and add to the attractiveness of the city than to reconstruct and improve as set forth above of the resident street system of the city.

22. IN REGARD TO CONSTRUCTION OF SWIMMING POOL AND IMPROVEMENT OF PATTERSON AVENUE PARK

Upon a favorable report from Attorney J. C. Thomson of New York as to legality of bond election proceedings authorizing the issuance of $22,000 of bonds for the purpose of constructing a swimming pool at Patterson avenue park and the payment of the balance of the purchase price thereof, no doubt your council will proceed to have plans and specifications for swimming pool drawn and the swimming pool constructed at an early date. The swimming pool will no doubt be ready for use before next summer and there will be a large number of people attracted thereby to Patterson avenue park. Therefore it might be well to give immediate consideration to improving the park with roadways, walks and lawns. By commending this work without delay, a considerable portion of the park may be well improved before next summer. A large lawn would do more than any other thing to make the park attractive. There is an appropriation of $2,000 in the budget to cover the cost of labor for the improvement of Patterson avenue park. There is a balance of somehing over $4,000 unappropriated also available for the improvement of this park and the purchase of equipment therefor.

NUTS IN IMMENSE QUANTITIES

On the north coast of Guatemala 60,000 tons of cohune nuts are said to be available for exportation annually, and with an expenditure of $10,000 for highway improvement this quantity could probably be increased to 100,000 tons per annum. On the Pacific or south coast the yield of corozo nuts, it is estimated, could easily be increased to 30,000 tons per annum. There is a supply of cheap labor in this southern region.

BLIND MAN DRIVES AUTO

SEATTLE, Wash.—Frank Parkinson, "the Blind Wizard of Camas," is totally blind, yet he can drive an automobile safely and easily over any road with which he is familiar. He is owner of an auto stage line between Portland, Vancouver, Wash., Camas and Washougal, and often "breaks in" new drivers by showing them how to handle the curves and bumps over the roads on which his stages run. In addition to this Parkinson purchases the cars and inspects them. And unlike most stage lines, his is said by its patrons, to be well kept up and creditably conducted.

"You'd think a good many stage lines were run by blind men," says Parkinson. "But as a matter of fact, it takes a blind man to watch out for things."

FLAG ETIQUETTE

When the flag passes in a parade or review, the spectator should, if walking, halt; if sitting, arise, stand at attention and salute. Civilians should remove their hats, although women are expected only to stand respectfully until the colors pass. All men in uniform of any branch of the army and navy are required to stand at attention and salute until the colors have passed.

PRESIDENT IS DELIGHTED

VISALIA—I am delighted to learn that at last the people of California have found a way to ship their delicious fresh figs commercially," President Harding wrote to Congressman Barbour of Fresno in thanks for a box of the fruit sent him by the California Peach & Fig growers. "We are enjoying them hugely. Sometimes I wonder if people generally realize their obligations to you Californians for inventing the means by which to serve fresh, perfect fruits in all seasons. In building your fruit industries you have not only served the consumers but promoted fruit interest all over the world.

"Shipment of fresh figs will be one more addition to the number of delicacies that California enterprise has made available to people everywhere. I am glad to learn that the outlook is good for an early emergence of the California fruit business from the depressed conditions that recently hampered it."

GLENDALE BOOSTING FOR CELEBRATION OF TUJUNGANS

Elaborate Program Will Be Presented; Free Camping Sites Offered Public

will present a carnival scene. Ice cream and hot dogs will be in evidence. Cool drinks—soft ones, of course—will be served from many stands.

Tents will spring up in the cleared sections and there will be something doing day and night. Many pleasures will be offered and the attractions will excell a four-ring circus, say members of the general committee.

In fact, it will be impossible to see it all in a day or a night. For that reason arrangements are being completed so that people may invade the hills and camp there during the life of the festitval, or for a shorter period. Excellent camping sites are being plotted under the attractive oak trees—and the sites will be offered free to the visitors.

Fresh air, fine water, cool shade, supply stores right at hand and plenty of amusements when desired—all will tend to attract many campers to Tujunga during the festival.

Professional Entertainers

The committee in charge has signed up a number of professional entertainers for the five-day festival and, incidentally, a number of prominent professionals have their homes in Tujunga. And, of course, they will appear on the program.

Frederick Warde, who had the lead in the Mission Play, is expected to have a prominent part in the program and he has a home in the green Verdugo hills.

Members of the "Millionaire's Club," made famous by John S. McGroarty, author of the Mission Play and also a resident of the hills, will participate in the program. They are men of wealth—a wealth of happiness gained by life in the open. This happy-hearted clan will do much to make the festival a success.

Directing Arrangements

Addison E. Wells is chairman of the committee on arrangements. Bessie Chapman, a noted violinist, is chairman of the music committee. She is arranging for a very special concert of music to be presented on Sunday, September 4.

Vaudeville acts formerly on the Orpheum and Pantages circuits will be presented and, in brief, sketches from the "roaring town" will be brought into the hills and offered in a most unique setting.

The new dance platform contains 4500 square feet and is in the best of condition. It is located under the oak trees at the foot of Sunset boulevard and is brilliantly illuminated with colored lights. Mr. Miller, who is in charge of the electrical arrangement, is planning to flood-light the oak trees about the pavilion from the ground at their trunks, giving the grove a fairy-like appearance at night.

Grouped About Pavilion

Practically all the activities connected with the festival, except the headquarters of the Millionaires' club will be grouped about the pavilion. The Garden of the Moon, where Tujunga ladies under the direction of Mrs. Eichenhofer, will dispense refreshments, will be at the east of the pavilion and other booths will circle about it.

Headquarters of the Millionaires' club will be at the postoffice. Bolton hall will be used as a ladies' rest room, and there will be a day nursery nearby in charge of Mrs. Emery where mothers may leave their children for brief periods.

Business headquarters of the festival committee will be in the temporary offices built on the south porch of Bolton hall, with a sub-station at the Tujunga Record office at Greeley and Sunset.

To Locate Campers

At the southeast corner of Bolton hall the housing committee in charge of Dr. W. Frederick Keeler will be prepared to aid visitors in finding rooms, tents and camping accommodations.

The Tunjunga Chamber of Commerce, which boasts of a membership of about 600, is solidly behind the festival and is doing everything to make it known all over the southland.

Attractive posters are on display in the southland and the public is fully informed that all roads lead to Tunjunga on September 2 to 6, inclusive.

President C. C. Cooper and Secretary James Rhoades of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce are co-operating with the Tujunga chamber and business interests generally of Glendale are boosting for the festival.

Delegation From Tujunga

Incidentally, Tujunga plans to send a delegation to Glendale Merchants' Exposition and while here the delegates will, in no uncertain terms, spread the glad tidings of the festival.

Excellent paved roads lead into Tujunga through the show places of the southland and thousands of motorists are expected to make the trip. Those who have no auto can reach Tujunga by an auto stage line. A special service will be maintained.

JOHN S. M'GROARTY TELLS OF TUJUNGA MOON FESTIVAL

Sage of Verdugo Hills Says 'Foolish Automobiles' Gave Idea for Celebration

By JOHN S. McGROARTY
Sage of the Verdugo Hills

The millionaires of the green Verdugo hills do not measure their fortune in dollars and cents. They are millionaires of happiness and contentment. Some of them have gobs and oodles of money, and some have no money at all. The queer thing about it is that one never can tell by looking at them which is which.

If you see two men in brown overalls with their sleeves rolled up over their brown elbows, building a stone wall or laying shakes on a little shack, among the heather and wild cherry, one of them may be just a day laborer, and the other may have money enough to start a national bank. The only difference between them is that the day laborer is having just as good a time as the other chap, and is getting $6 or $7 a day besides. The chances are that both of them are members of the millionaires' club of happiness and contentment.

This is how the members of the millionaires' club came to evolve this big financial scheme. The only way an ordinary millionaire can make anything out of his money is to invest it in some business and then work and worry day and night to look after it, or lend it out at interest.

How to Increase Fortune

It is the same with the millionaires of happiness and contentment. The only way they can increase their fortune is to lend to somebody who is needy, and the needier the borrower is, the better, because he will be willing to pay a bigger rate of interest. Up in the green Verdugo hills everybody is getting so rich it is hard to find borrowers any more.

The subject came up one evening when the millionaires were sitting on a stone wall looking out over the San Fernando valley and the Ventura mountains where the gold and crimson of the sunset had faded to lavender and gray. They were watching the lights of the foolish automobiles as they raced up and down the Calabasas Road, in quest of happiness.

It was the man who used to be statistician who thought of the plan. The foolish automobiles gave him the idea. While the other millionaires were talking and wondering where they were going to find people to whom to lend their fortunes the man who used to be a statistician got out his pencil and made a lot of figures on a smooth white rock.

To Get Real Grub Stake

"By ginger, men," he remarked, finally, "I have got the answer." There must be hundreds of thousands of people down in the roaring town, who need a real grub stake—people who go scooting over the country in the foolish automobiles seeking a good time—people who go to the motion-picture shows every night, and people who sit around home and feel sulky. Let's invite them all to come up here, and lend each of them enough to make him happy all the rest of his life."

"The man who reads the papers said, by gollies, it was a fine idea and they would do it, and they would all have the dickens of a time. So they settled it that way.

Ever since then the millionaires of the green Verdugo hills have been the busiest people in all creation. They have decided to keep open house for all the world from Friday, September 2, to Tuesday, September 6. Lots of people will be able to go on Friday and stay all five days. Others who cannot get away from business on Friday can go Saturday, and on Sunday everybody can go and stay over Labor Day.

The chief of the hill tribes proposed to call it the Moon Festival of the Tujungans in honor of the old Indian tribe that used to live in the Tujunga valley and the Verdugo hills, and as the regular moon will be taking a vacation about the time the millionaires have had to make a moon.

They Clear Away Brush

The other day they had to get out their mattocks and clear the sage and heather and wild buckwheat away from the edges of the principal business streets. They hated to do that because the heather is so green and pretty and the sage smells so good and woodsy and the wild buckwheat is so full of flowers, but Socrates said that if the people from the roaring town came up here and found the brush hanging all over the edges of Sunset boulevard they would think Tujunga wasn't a real city.

They have cleared a place to have a camp fire every night where everybody can go and sing, and have built a big platform where everybody can dance. The children are going to have pretty costumes of bright colors with little bells to jingle, and there is the man who plays the flute and a lot of the people of the green Verdugo hills who used to be musicians and entertainers when they lived in the roaring town, so there will be free entertainment every evening.

WATER BOND FUND REPORT MADE TO CITY COUNCIL

About $10,000 Will Be Left Out of $260,000, Shown by Official Estimate

road reservoir along Verdugo road and Canada boulevard to north line of Tract 250. The original estimate of the cost of this main was $34,800. Wells, pumps and small reservoir to be located in Verdugo Canyon, original estimate of the cost of these improvements was $32,000. Electric generating plant that was to be located at the Verdugo road reservoir, estimated cost of which was $9700.

"It was also planned to spend $34,050 of this bond issue for additions and betterments to the water system of which $15,333.30 was spent for the distribution mains laid on Sycamore Canyon road and East Broadway as set forth above.

About $10,000 Available

"There will probably be about $10,000 of this bond issue available after the completion of the works now under construction. As this sum would not be sufficient to complete the Verdugo Canyon works, it might be well to consider using it for additions and betterments to the water system. If such plan be adopted, it would afford a solution for a problem that will immediately confront your council as soon as the new reservoirs are put into service, thereby adding twenty-five pounds additional pressure to the water system. This will no doubt result in some of the older pipes giving way. To meet this situation a considerable quantity of pipe should be on hand at that time. Therefore it might be well to consider using this $10,000 or a considerable portion thereof for the immediate purchase of four-inch cast iron pipe and fittings to replace any service mains that might give way when the additional pressure is added. The danger of the pipes of six inches in diameter and over giving way on account of additional pressure is not nearly so great as these pipes were in most instances laid at a later date than were the smaller ones."

Mental Telepathy Act on Vaudeville Program at Glendale Saturday

At the Glendale Theatre, Saturday matinee and night, will be presented the greatest program of Meiklejohn and Dun vaudeville ever brought to this city.

The headliners are Aleko, Panthea and Presco, the greatest mind-reading or mental telepathy act in vaudeville.

If you want to know if there is oil on your property; if your husband has an affinity; if your sweetheart is faithful; if you will be successful in business—ask them.

This is the only mental telepathy act in vaudeville where the people work without the aid of paper or pencil or the direct asking of a question. People come for miles to scoff—and remain to applaud.

On the same program will be found four other exceptional headline attractions. Attention is being directed to the special bargain matinee. "Danger Ahead," with Mary Philbon, as the star.

COMMITTEE GIVES HELP

Students who desire to take up engineering courses in the colleges and universities this year and who seek information on the subject can be introduced to a committee of the American Association of Engineers by P. H. Calahan of 366 West Elk avenue, Glendale, or by calling at the offices of the association at 625 Metropolitan building, Los Angeles. This committee is appointed to advise students on the proper courses to pursue for the benefit of the profession at large.

RECITAL PROVES SUCCESS

Audrey Elizabeth Haynes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Landon C. Haynes of 334 West Cypress street, delightfully entertained a large number of friends last night with a pianoforte recital given at the studio of Mrs. Winifred Wagner Bennett, of whom she is a pupil, at 1114 South Central avenue. Although Audrey Haynes is only 13 years of age she possesses marked musical talent, as was demonstrated in the program given by her.

HAY RIDE IS PLANNED

About twenty members of the Live Cole class of the first Christian church Sunday school are planning to attend the old-fashioned "hay ride," which will take place tonight. The big straw covered truck will leave the church building on Louise street and Colorado boulevard at 7:30 o'clock, and the party of merry-makers will go directly to the Arroyo Seco, where a weiner roast and the usual festivities will be staged.

BIG CRUSH AT FREE SHOW

GRAND VIEW GIVEN REPRESENTATION UPON C. OF C.

New Members Are Secured In District; Great Rally to Be Held for Members

There are eight new members in the "Hundred More" drive of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce from the Grand View district. E. F. Sanders, assistant secretary, and Henry Purinton, student secretary, visited that section of the city yesterday afternoon and obtained four in ten minutes' time. They are the real boosters for Glendale.

Two things that Grand View people want more than anything else, according to Mr. Sanders, are lower street car fare into Glendale and mail service from Glendale. In the latter instance they are served from Burbank.

Grand View has its own improvement association which is advocating municipal improvements, a school building, etc., but it looks to the Chamber of Commerce to get behind the postal and transportation problems.

Equal Treatment for All

"We are certainly glad to have these new members," said Mr. Sanders, "and it is our duty to see that all sections of this city are accorded equal treatment. That Grand View is not getting—through no fault of Glendale, understand—but as a part of this thriving city all of us should be interested in obtaining for them that which is justly theirs."

Three other applications for membership in the Chamber were obtained yesterday by Mr. Sanders, who gave Mr. Purinton, a former service man obtaining vocational education here, a lesson in salesmanship.

Great Rally Is Planned

By one week from Tuesday when a great rally will be held at the exposition tent, there will be "More Than a Hundred" new members to be introduced. Then a drive to boost the list to 1000 strong will be launched. One feature of the evening's entertainment will be a concert by the Glendale Elks band, Director R .D. Crowfard having assured Mr. Sanders his organization would be glad to play for such a civic enterprise.

Efforts of the Chamber of Commerce this week-end are turned toward making the Greater Glendale Merchants' Exposition a success. Headquarters at 115 West Broadway are the center of activity connected with final arrangements.

Lift up thyself, look around, and see something higher and brighter than earth, earth worms and earthly darkness.
